

Cassia school patrons reject bond proposal

By GEORGIA LAYTON
Times-News writer

BURLEY—Cassia County school patrons defeated a proposed $3.5 million school bond issue, even though more than half the voters favored the proposal.

The vote was 2,277 in favor to 2,024 against the bonds. A two-thirds approval is needed for passage.

About 52.9 per cent of those voting approved the measure.

18-year-old residents were permitted to vote in the election for the first time.

Nearly the same percentage approval had been recorded in the 1967 school bond election in which 53.3 per cent approved bond issuance.

The bonds would have constructed a joint high school and financed extensive remodeling of several district buildings.

A vote breakdown by polling places shows Onkley High School, 67 yes, 416 no, 473 total, 12 per cent yes; Burley High School, 685 yes, 301, no, 986 total, 69.4 per cent yes; and Declo, 169 yes, 344 no, 513 total, 32.9 per cent yes.

Burley Junior High, 760 yes, 421 no, one spoiled ballot, 1,183 total, 64.2 per cent yes; Albion, 24 yes, 122 no, 146 total, 16.4 per cent yes; Almo, 4 yes, 83 no, 87 total, 4.6 per cent yes; Southwest School, 458 yes, 102 no, 558 total, 81.7 per cent yes; Raft River, 27 yes, 213, no 146 total, 16.4 per cent yes; Almo, 4 yes, 82 no, 86 total, 4.6 per cent yes; Southwest School, 458 yes, 102 no, 558 total, 81.7 per cent yes; Raft River, 27 yes, 213, no 146 total, 16.4 per cent yes; Miller, 30 yes, 12 no, total 42, 71 per cent yes.

100 absentee ballots were cast, with 66 yes votes and 11 no votes. Twenty-four absentee ballots couldn't be counted because they were not properly certified. The Cassia County School Board of Trustees will meet Monday to canvass the vote in yesterday's election.

A comparison of the voter turnout yesterday and in 1967 for the various polling places shows Onkley, 416, 340; Burley High School, where there were 110 eligible 18 year olds, 1,077, 1,183; Declo, 313, 347; Raft River, 240, 172.

Poll workers said the increase in voter turnout appeared to be mainly due to the large number of young married couples voting and more interest in the election, rather than the number of 18 year olds voting. Harold Blaney, Cassia County School superintendent, said today that it will be six months before another bond election can be held and at this point he has no comment to make on any possible plans the board may make to solve problems in the district.

Had the bond issue passed, the $3.5 million would have been apportioned among several district projects, including: Centralized high school for Burley, Declo and Onkley, $2.35 million; Declo elementary and junior high facilities, $75,000; Oakley Junior High renovation, $250,000; Burley Junior High renovation for grade school use, $85,000; Raft River school addition, $120,000.

Seized crate

PARTIALLY FILLED crate of peyote is examined here by Twin Falls Police Chief Frank Barnett. The crate arrived in Twin Falls last month and remained unclaimed at the bus depot.

TF Police confiscate box of peyote buttons

TWIN FALLS—A small wooden crate holding 2,000 peyote buttons has been confiscated by Twin Falls Police.

Peyote, a stimulant used legally by Indians in religious rites, but illegally by others, is derived from the mesquite cactus. Capt. Tim Qualls said he does not know the value of the 2,000 buttons but the State Bureau of Drug Control has said this is the largest confiscation of the narcotic ever made in the state.

The oblong crate arrived Feb. 18 at the bus depot in Twin Falls, directed to a fictitious address and post office box number.

Qualls said his department had been informed that such a shipment might arrive in Twin Falls and when it did officers kept a 24-hour watch on the crate for four days.

No one arrived to claim the crate. After it was confiscated, it was taken to the police department. The peyote will be destroyed.

Qualls said similar shipments of peyote were made to Nampa and Ogden, Utah, and in both incidents the people claiming the parcels were arrested. He said this may be the reason no one claimed the Twin Falls shipment.

Peyote, when chewed, creates a sensation similar to that caused by smoking marijuana. The buttons resemble poorly dried apricots, but are brownish black in color.

Noise guard OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In an effort to lower the racket that has become an annoying part of American life, the House voted Tuesday to expand the government's control over noise.

By a 356 to 32 vote, the House sent to the Senate legislation that would permit the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to set stringent standards governing noise emission from new products.

The legislation would require the EPA to establish noise standards where feasible.

Cleric scores busing ban

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, chairman of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, said today a constitutional amendment to ban pupil busing "would be a major step backward in the Taiwan pullout slated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon has told congressional leaders he plans to pull all but 2,000 U.S. troops out of Taiwan once the Vietnam War is settled with the residual force staying there until the Nationalists and the Communists resolve their dispute.

The troop figures marked the first elaboration on the communique issued by President Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai after Nixon's visit to China. The Shanghai statement by the two countries mentioned no figures, with the United States simply saying it would pull out some troops from Taiwan, with a complete withdrawal to follow an easing of tensions in the area.

Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott—who with his Democratic counterpart Mike Mansfield was invited by Chou Tuesday to visit China—said Nixon believes 5,000 of the 6,000 troops now on Taiwan could be removed once the Vietnam war is over.

Scott and Mansfield, whose invitation for a China trip later this year was relayed by President Nixon at a White House briefing, told newsmen an end to the conflict was a major condition Nixon attached to his promise to withdraw troops from the Nationalist-held island off China's coast.

quest for equal rights for all Americans.

"It would undermine what progress we have made in race relations, both in our schools and in society as a whole," said Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame University, leadoff witness in a third day of hearings on antibusing amendments before the House Judiciary Committee.

Hesburgh's testimony came as the principal focus of the Congressional battle over busing shifted to the House from the Senate. The Senate reversed itself Tuesday and defeated proposed legislation to forbid federal courts from ordering busing to achieve racial integration.

A vote on an over-all education bill containing a mild antibusing provision was set for final approval later today.

Hesburgh said an amendment offered by Rep. Norman F. Lent, R-N.Y., the one favored by many of the most militant antibusing leaders, would whittle away at the protections of the 13th, 14th and 15th Amendments which made free men out of slaves, gave these laws equal protection of the law of the land and granted them the specific right to exercise the franchise.

Lent, the only other scheduled witness today, said in a prepared statement, "It is difficult to square the many critics' snipings (at the Lent amendment) with their vehement support and acclamation of the 1964 Civil Rights Law."

The fact is that (the Lent amendment) utilizes the typical language of most all of our antidiscrimination statutes in the fields of fair housing, financing of housing, public accommodations, federally assisted programs, equal employment opportunity and voting rights.

Lent's amendment states: "No public school student shall, because of his race, creed or color, be assigned to or required to attend a particular school."

Opponents of the Lent proposal contend that it could be used to nullify many civil rights gains since the landmark 1954 Supreme Court decision,

Strike cost grain deal, Butz says

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—American farmers lost $1 billion because longshoremen's union leader Harry Bridges spoiled a grain sale deal with Russia, Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz said Tuesday.

"More than $1 billion in farm income has been lost because of an arrogant and callous labor leader, who says 'I don't care if you get your product on the dock or not,'" Butz said.

Crash kills Gem Senate candidate

BOISE (UPI)—F. W. (Bill) Bergeson, 51, Pocatello, U.S. Senate candidate and active Idaho political figure, died Tuesday in a two-car collision east of Boise.

Idaho State Police officers said Bergeson was heading west into Boise when he collided head-on with another vehicle going the wrong way on the four-lane highway.

Officers identified the driver of the second car as John Phillip Remakius, 68, Bliss. He was listed in fair condition at St. Alphonsus Hospital with multiple lacerations and a hip fracture. Funeral services for Bergeson will be at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Blackfoot LDS Tabernacle. Burial will be at Groveland, near Blackfoot. The Howard Packham Mortuary, Blackfoot, is in charge of arrangements.

Bergeson, according to officers at the accident scene, died instantly. The left side of his automobile was torn open and the inside of the driver's side was shredded.

Officers said apparently Bergeson had pulled into the left lane to pass a car which had pulled over to the side to help the driver of another vehicle which had run out of gas. Officers said he was behind a vehicle driven by Betty Shelby, King Hill.

The woman apparently saw the oncoming car and swerved to avoid an accident. Bergeson did not have time to avoid the collision.

Officers said they did not know what Remakius' car was doing traveling in the wrong direction on the freeway.

The Shelby automobile struck the car which had stopped on the right side of the roadway, officers said, but there was only minor damage and no injuries.

The accident occurred about one mile east of the Broadway interchange at 11:58 a.m. Bergeson was one of five candidates for the Republican U.S. senatorial nomination this year.

State Police Officer S. M. Studdert, who assisted in the investigation, told newsmen police received a report at 11:58 a.m. that a car was going the wrong way on Interstate 80 and then received an accident call at 12:01 p.m.

"This is another case of what we could do if we had more men," the policeman said. "If ever there was a preventable accident, this was one."

He said it had "when you get a report a man is going the wrong way and there is no one close enough to catch him."

Pot 'legal' in Florida

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UPI)—A circuit judge ruled Tuesday that the sale and possession of marijuana is not illegal in Florida because the state legislature "goofed" by omitting sanctions against pot from the new drug abuse law.

Judge Clyde Kissinger granted a defense motion to dismiss marijuana possession and sale charges against four Pinellas County residents. Kissinger agreed with the defense that the new drug abuse law does not provide penalties specifically for marijuana.

Mideast fighting rages

By United Press International
A Syrian military spokesman said in Damascus that the Syrian air force bombed Israeli settlements today in the occupied Golan Heights and that heavy casualties were inflicted.

An Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv confirmed the Syrian attack but said the bombs fell harmlessly outside the settlements.

SAVED MONEY!!
Clayton Rude of Twin Falls saved money by cancelling his ad on a 1960 Cadillac early. His car, said the first night his ad appeared in the Times-News Classified, on the Guaranteed Result Program. You too can get last results, by calling 733-0031 or visit us at 337 2nd Street, West.

two Jewish settlements and that there was neither damage nor casualties.

A Syrian communique broadcast by Damascus Radio said: "Direct hits were scored and heavy casualties were inflicted. All our planes returned safely."

The Middle East News Agency in Cairo said Damascus airport authorities informed Cairo airport officials that all Syrian airports were closed until further notice.

The Syrian spokesman said Syria sent its Soviet-made Mig against the Israeli settlements in reprisal against an attack earlier in the day by Israeli planes, tanks and artillery against Palestinian guerrilla refugee camps in Syria.

Israel planes also struck into Lebanon today and military spokesman in Tel Aviv said the Syrian attacks were in retaliation for 13 attacks on Israeli outposts and border settlements by Syrian-based guerrilla artillery and the Lebanon attacks in reprisal for rocket attacks on Israeli border villages.

The Israeli announcement said the Syrian planes penetrated three miles into Israeli airspace and dropped bombs in the vicinity of El Al and Hualin, causing neither damage nor casualties.

It said Israeli anti-aircraft opened up on the intruders and that the Israeli air force scrambled against the Syrians but failed to make contact.

It was the first bombing action by Syrian planes against Israeli occupied territory for nearly two years. Although reconnaissance planes flew over the Golan Heights last Nov. 12, the last aerial combat between the two countries came on June 27, 1970, when Israel said it shot down two Syrian MIGs in a dogfight over the Golan Heights.

This was, shortly, before the 1967 Six Day War. Since then Israel has established armed settlements in the area.

Why don't you look after your damn dams!

In February, 1966, John Matt Miller of Kellogg was killed when his light plane clipped power lines and crashed in Shoshone County. He was on the verge of announcing that he would run for Congress from Idaho's first district.

In that same year the Democratic candidate for governor, Charles Herndon, died when his plane crashed in the wilderness near Challis. Bergeson was on his way to Boise to confer with legislators concerning potato farming legislation. He was scheduled to participate in the governor's statewide safety conference sponsored by the State Labor Department.

Bergeson was born Jan. 30, 1921 in Verden, N. M. His family moved to Blackfoot where Bergeson spent his childhood.

He later married the former Bonnie Call. He is survived by his widow and three sons, David, Steven and Stanley, and one daughter, Stacy. The sons are now living in Salt Lake City, and the daughter is living at home and attending high school. Bergeson has one grandchild.

He was elected in 1967 to the state senate from Blackfoot and served through 1961 when he left the state for several years, returning in the late 1960s to represent Circuit Bergeson, an Idaho-Idaho public relations firm.

He was a graduate of the University of Idaho where he first received a bachelor's degree and later a master's degree in economics.

In 1970 he was elected Republican Central Committee chairman for Bannock County. He resigned the position when he announced his candidacy for the U.S. Senate.

He was executive secretary for the Idaho Processors Inc., an association of 12 processing plants. He was also a member of the Pocatello Rotary Club and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

US, Canada may join Red confab

LONDON (UPI)—Diplomatic sources said today neutral nations and Western allies including the United States and Canada are now virtually agreed to take part in a Communist-sponsored European security conference.

They said the conference probably would be held in Helsinki in the first part of next year and stressed that the degree of enthusiasm among attending nations varied widely. They said the Vatican also might attend the conference. Like it or not, the principle of holding a security conference and participating in it has been accepted by all, the informants said. They said the formal go ahead waits completion of the Berlin agreements, ratification by the Bonn government of non-aggression treaties with the Soviet Union and Poland and the signing of the Berlin protocol by the Big Four powers.

China has signified its interest tentatively in the conference, but the diplomats said it was likely to be asked in view of the limitation of the conference to strictly European problems.

Bilateral contacts have already begun by some interested parties on the projected meeting, its scope and aims, the sources said.

This applies to some of the smaller member nations of the western alliance. The major western nations have been consulting periodically with each other and continue to weigh the chances of the projected meeting with some trepidation.

The conference is expected to materialize by the middle of next year. It would be opened on foreign ministers level and quickly set up a number of working committees, charged with specific issues to be presented periodically to the ministers.

Argentina paralyzed by strikers

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—The world's eighth largest nation was paralyzed today by millions of striking workers whose walkouts have shut down an estimated 86 per cent of the nation's commerce, industry and transportation. The scheduled 48-hour general strike called by the powerful, Peronist-controlled CGT labor unions affected virtually every facet of Argentine life. The strike began midnight Monday.

Before it ends at midnight tonight this mighty show of labor "muscle" will cost this nation an estimated $104 million in lost production and wages, according to government experts.

There were no reports of major violence since approximately five million workers in 110 unions walked off their jobs. It was impossible to travel by subway or train and difficult at best to make connections with any of the few taxis and buses defying the shutdown.

Three of Buenos Aires' eight major daily newspapers man-

Death cause reported

San Francisco (UPI)—A pathologist testified Tuesday that prison guard John V. Mills was killed when his head struck a falling and not from karate chops by "Soledad Brother" George Jackson.

Dr. Richard Basford disputed earlier testimony by an autopsy surgeon that Mills could have died from a blow by a flashlight or a knife chop to the head.

Basford, a defense witness, testified that Mills died from a "hemorrhage into the vital centers of the brain from a serious blow to the back of the head" that could have only occurred from hitting a falling object during his fall from a third floor tier.

Farm workers leader signs 3-year pact

MIAMI (UPI) — United Farm Workers leader Cesar Chavez Tuesday announced the signing of a "breakthrough" three-year contract with Coca-Cola's Minute Maid division covering 1,200 workers.

In addition to seeking union recognition and contracts for other citrus workers, Chavez said the union will "continue the struggle" for bargaining rights for equipment operators at the Tallman Sugar Corp., near South Bay, Fla., in Palm Beach County.

He said the dispute at Tallman which has been going on for more than two months, has given the union the support of the "vast majority" of sugar workers. Chavez, in a Miami news conference, said the firm would not hold talks with his staff.

Farm worker leaders said the next step in their sugar organizing drive could be a boycott of the Borden Co., major buyer of Tallman sugar. But he said he hopes this will not be needed since "high" U. S. Labor Department officials are attempting to mediate the dispute for higher wages and fringe benefits.

Of the Minute Maid contract, Chavez said it was "the best of any contract we have, including California."

He said it was the first contract covering agricultural workers in any of the southeastern states, but he predicted there are more to come. "The union's coming, it's here, and it's not going to go away. The only question is are we going to have a struggle, or will the union be accepted."

Signs contract

CESAR CHAVEZ, head of United Farm Workers Union, reads a statement at a press conference in Miami, Fla., during which he announced the signing of a three-year contract covering 1,200 fruit pickers in the Coca-Cola Co.'s Minute Maid groves. Chavez called the union contract for farm workers in the southeast "a break-through." (UPI)

'Spruce Goose' causes problems

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The Long Beach Harbor Commission refused Tuesday to renew the lease on the hangar where Hughes has kept the $40 million plane since its first and only flight in 1947.

The lease on the 20-story high hangar has been getting progressively more expensive. It's now up to $30,000 a year, and Hughes has also reportedly spent a quarter of a million dollars fighting the land subside around the hangar.

Hughes and the Harbor Commission have been in a tug-of-war over the site for years. The commission wants the land back to build a deep water tanker terminal. Hughes wants a home for his plane, which is roughly the size of one of today's jumbo jets.

New TF firm slated

TWIN FALLS — Production of electronic detection devices designed to protect homes and businesses from burglars is expected to be underway in Twin Falls by July.

The manufacture of surveillance equipment, silent and not-so-silent alarms along with power supply units will be by Electro Securities Co., the new business name for the old Twin Falls filter plant south of town.

The large open rooms which once contained filter beds, to convert Snake River water into the city's domestic supply are being filled with work tables and unusual assembly and testing equipment. Hal Humphrey, formerly of California, purchased the plant for the appraised value of $23,500 last fall.

The old filter beds have been covered and new flooring installed. An area previously used for mixing chemicals for chlorination has also been enclosed and provides a test area for the equipment.

About 64 persons will be hired, most of them women, to work on the assembly of burglar alarm units. When in full production about 100 persons will be employed.

Dick Patterson, marketing and finance official for the plant, said there will be job opportunities for persons who have worked in assembly of electronic equipment or have a basic knowledge of electronics.

Other positions will require no more than learning to assemble an assortment of parts.

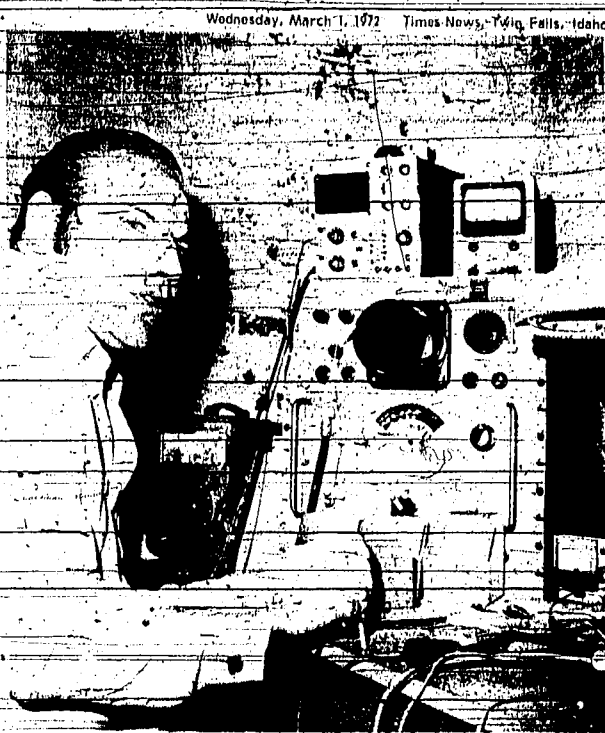

The new Twin Falls industry will supply dealers, alarm installing companies and sales firms but will not deal directly in selling the product.

Marketed as the Microwave Intrusion Alarm Systems, the product is available in a number of styles.

There is a briefcase type unit to be used by investigating officers which eliminates long hours of surveillance work. It is known as the surveillance unit and will send out a silent signal if the intruder appears on the scene which would enable officers to make the arrest.

Other types will set off a loud burglar alarm, turn on lights or automatically dial a given telephone number to indicate a burglary is being committed.

The units will pick up any movement within 50 feet in any direction and are adaptable to

New TF industry

ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT in the old Twin Falls City filter plant is used here by Hal Humphrey, owner of the city's newest industry, Electro Securities Co. The unit above tests functions of the micro-wave security devices soon to be in production. The burglar alarm equipment will be marketed in all states and several foreign countries.

TF merchants set 1st meet tonight

TWIN FALLS — The first major meeting this year of the Twin Falls Downtown Merchants Association will be at 6 p.m. in the Rogerson Roundup Room.

A no-host cocktail hour is planned.

There will be no formal business session until March 9, according to Merv Edson, president. "The purpose of this get-together is for all of us to become better acquainted so that we can do a better collective job of promoting downtown Twin Falls," he said.

An official spring opening is slated to begin downtown Friday morning at 8, with all downtown merchants "out on the streets" using brooms, buckets and hoses. City crews will cooperate in cleaning up the streets. Merchants will each be responsible for their own store fronts.

It has been recommended by the association that all downtown stores begin Friday night openings on March 3.

Frank Cook, downtown coordinator, announced a Spring Opening Treasure Hunt to begin on March 6.

A committee of merchants has been appointed to act in an executive capacity to guide and direct — with the approval of the association — the activities and finances of the "Downtowners. The committee consists of A. L. Standley, Robert Gordon, Vince Smazal, Ken Mann and Brick Zimmerman.

A promotion committee will be responsible for all forthcoming promotion activities during the year. Chairman of the committee is Jack Muldowney assisted by Elvie Cain, Kenneth Harrison, Earl Faulkner and Frank Cook.

Polls set

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls School District trustees have approved five polling places for the April 4 rezoning election.

Voting will be from noon to 8 p.m. in the Washington, Lincoln and Bicket elementary schools, Twin Falls High School and Robert Stuart Junior High School.

TF speaker set

TWIN FALLS — Karl R. Harris, regional representative, family benefits planning, Region X, will address the Kiwanis Club meeting at the Turf Club Thursday noon.

Harris, from the Seattle office of Health, Education and Welfare, was graduated from Cornell University with a degree in rural sociology. He received his bachelor's degree in divinity from the school of theology of Northwestern University.

Jerry Meyerhoeffer, program chairman for the Kiwanis Club, will introduce Harris.

Kramer speaks

TWIN FALLS — Doug Kramer, chairman of the Twin Falls County Republican Central Committee, spoke Monday to members of the Republican Women.

Kramer urged the county organization members to write to legislators on bills about which they are concerned. He also told of the importance of knowing the facts before being too critical of legislators.

Tickets for the Hon. Len Jordan dinner scheduled for March 17 at the Elks Lodge were sold.

Chinese purchase

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Chinese government is buying a $2.5 million satellite communications ground station in Shanghai used to televise President Nixon's visit, RCA Corp. said Tuesday.

The corporation said it soon expects to complete the trade, which would be the first direct sale by an American firm to the government of China since the relaxation of trade restrictions nine months ago.

George McGovern Draws Blood

MANCHESTER, N. H. — Edmund S. Muskie, acutely sensitive to any such criticism during his first four stops that evening, "I would think that anyone running for President as a Lincoln-like figure ought to act more like Lincoln," snapped McGovern. Time and again, McGovern sought to contrast his own unmistakably clear policy stands with Muskie's ambivalence. But McGovern saved his roundhouse punch for the evening's final event — a reception in the well-heeled suburb of Bedford, which comes as close to being McGovern country, at any place.

Among these upper middle-class liberals, McGovern charged that Muskie's erstwhile support for the Vietnam war casts doubt on his "foresight," "judgment" and "reliability." At the 1968 convention, Muskie led the way for the Lyndon Johnson war policy while some of us were risking our political careers and did not change until 1969 when public opinion also changed.

To Muskie managers here, McGovern's onslaught in this lackluster primary campaign could reduce the Muskie total, once 70 per cent in polls, to around 50 per cent. Even so, a Muskie win is inevitable. At best, McGovern cannot hope for much more than 25 per cent, a poor second in a drab field.

But the Muskie camp's sensitivity to McGovern's barbs goes beyond this primary. In New Hampshire as at national headquarters, Muskie staffers bristle over any suggestion that Muskie is inadequately militant about reduced defense spending or Vietnam.

Among Muskie operatives, the memory of the left's non-support of Hubert Humphrey in 1968 is vivid. Consequently, the Muskie camp here is more worried about McGovern's harpoons than heavy barrages from the right-wing Manchester Union Leader, which regularly assaults Muskie as a leftist while largely ignoring McGovern.

The reaction is questionable. The Democrats of New Hampshire, largely Roman Catholic and working class, are basically conservative. In the long run, the Union Leader may prove much more damaging than McGovern.

Moreover, McGovern's tactics lack a certain rationality in conservative Manchester. When McGovern's canvassers find a Muskie supporter there, they follow up by mailing a comparative voting analysis of the two Senators which shows Muskie decidedly dovish.

Sen. McGovern has sponsored and fought for efforts to reduce overall and line item defense expenditures. Muskie's record is the opposite.

Muskie's managers realize that such mailings to the Manchester working class can only hurt McGovern. But the uneasy they cause in Muskie headquarters transcends political reality. To veterans of the 1968 McCarthy campaign who run the 1972 Muskie campaign, McGovern hostility is all too reminiscent of Democratic fratricide four years ago.

That explains why a Muskie aide angrily telephoned McGovern headquarters over a flyer written by University of New Hampshire students attacking Muskie's vote against a U. S. troop pullout from Europe. More significantly, it is one reason why, after much internal debate, the Muskie campaign rejected advice from many local supporters and agreed to face McGovern and lesser candidates in a televised debate March 5.

Our Opinions

Out here in Idaho we have the opinions but not the knowledge. We do not know exactly what was said between President Nixon and officials of the Peoples Republic of China.

We are not making all the "guesses" being made by many newsmen. In fact we are making few of them because, frankly, we do not know what the situation really is.

Anything we would say is pure speculation and only the coming weeks and months will reveal the truth.

Meanwhile, we do agree — while looking at past experiences — that perhaps the Formosa situation is a matter to be settled between the two Chinas. As to our treaty obligations with Taiwan, they must now be looked at in the light of the events of these days. Frankly, what nation on earth has really bothered to keep up with obligations other than the United States?

As to various relationships with China this is obviously the way to go. Exchanges between representatives of the media, student and travel exchanges, exchanges on low-key diplomatic levels — these are all for the good. These are a start.

As to our ideals or beliefs, or the ideals and beliefs of the Chinese, these can be kept and still provide a working base of peaceful existence.

There is no agreement on any subject pleasing for everyone. We praise the President for taking this first step. We believe he did the right thing at the right time. The trip, the discussions, will be a matter of controversy for weeks and months. We will not know the real content for a long while.

But out here in Idaho, we are relieved in knowing that it all happened.

ART BUCHWALD

Spirit Of Peking

WASHINGTON — The "Spirit of Peking" has had more of an effect on Americans than anyone would like to admit. For example, my Uncle Leo and Aunt Zelda, who live in Brooklyn, had broken off diplomatic relations with my Uncle Harry and Aunt Gertrude, who live in New Jersey, about 20 years ago.

No one is quite certain what caused the break, though rumor in the family had it that Uncle Harry had sold Uncle Leo some hospital insurance and Uncle Leo had been unable to collect on the policy because of some small print which Uncle Harry had neglected to mention to him.

Aunt Zelda called Uncle Harry a crook and Aunt Gertrude declared both Aunt Zelda and Uncle Leo persona non grata in the entire state of New Jersey.

The other day, Uncle Leo's son, Henry, pointed out to his parents that if President Nixon could go all the way to Peking to normalize relations with Mao Tse-tung, they could at least take a crack at making peace with Uncle Harry and Aunt Gertrude.

Surprisingly Uncle Leo and Aunt Zelda agreed to open negotiations, and Henry went on a secret mission to the mainland of New Jersey to arrange the details.

Uncle Harry and Aunt Gertrude agreed to a state visit from Uncle Leo and Aunt Zelda, but they warned Henry not to get his hopes up over one trip. Henry went back to Brooklyn and reported he thought the climate was right for the visit, even if it did no more than to break the ice, which New Jersey had a lot of this.

The date for the historic journey was set for last Sunday, and because of lack of transportation and the shortage of accommodations, I was the only newspaperman accredited for the trip.

Uncle Leo and Aunt Zelda brought along a staff consisting of their three children and their spouses.

We arrived at noon, New Jersey time. We were all disappointed to find there were no crowds in the streets as we drove up to the house, but when we got out of the car, Aunt Gertrude and Uncle Harry were there to greet us with their four children.

We went inside the house where we were each served a glass of California wine. Since no one had been to New Jersey for 20 years, we were amazed at the many changes that had taken place. Everyone seemed well fed and well clothed, and Aunt Zelda mentioned that Aunt Gertrude had even bought a new sofa since the last time she had been there.

The first thing on the agenda was dinner, and Aunt Gertrude served 14 courses. Uncle Leo and Aunt Zelda pretended they were enjoying every moment of it, though Aunt Zelda had made everyone's ear before we left Brooklyn because she said,

"You never know if they're going to feed you when you go there."

After dinner Uncle Leo made a toast in which he said that it was nice to be in New Jersey again after all those years, and while there were great differences to be settled in the family, particularly the question of what type of insurance Uncle Harry sold, he hoped the visit would bring about new relations between them.

Uncle Harry responded by saying that anyone who doesn't read an insurance policy is an idiot, but there were more important things in life than whether you can collect when you go to a hospital.

After the toasts Uncle Harry's 4-year-old granddaughter provided the entertainment by playing 14 numbers on the piano. Uncle Leo and Aunt Zelda applauded politely.

The highlight of the trip was a visit to Uncle Harry's "great wall," which he had built in the back of his house to keep his neighbor's dog out. It was 4 feet high and 30 feet long, and Uncle Leo said he thought it was one of the great wonders of the world.

About Cissy

WASHINGTON — There are consolations for us youthful, fresh-faced journalists who will never see 49 again. Surrounded by cranky Women's Libbers who speak in four-letter words, we can always remember Cissy Patterson.

Cissy's square handle was Eleanor Patterson of the famed and brilliant McCormick-Patterson newspaper tribe, and she may have been the last full-time practitioner of the swift editorial kick in the pants, for personal reasons. I suppose things are better now, with city rooms swarming with Ph. D.'s whose meffringin is always measured, but they are not as interesting as when Cissy was giving the back of her hand to Presidents, Cabinet officers and dangers.

Some of Cissy's exploits when she was running the old Washington Times-Herald now may seem trivial and spitefully adolescent because she refused to save her vitriol for a rainy day. She wasted too much hot type on nobodies. But she was an editor with a vital faculty for becoming emotionally involved in the war around her. She was brutal and often unfair, but she was never dull.

This was the Cissy Patterson who in a day when Franklin Roosevelt was being urged for canonization called him "Foolish Frank." Her feud with F.D.R.'s assistant, Harry Hopkins, was capped by her wailing in print for his death, preferably violent. Daily, she called for the resignation of Interior Secretary Harold Ickes and, by implication, his burning at the stake.

skin, who once stormed into the city room of the Washington Daily News with the announcement she planned to horsewhip the News' gossip columnist, George Abel, because he had implied she was a journalistic dilettante. Fortunately, it was Abel's day off. Cissy was a muscular female.

During her first year as publisher, Cissy refused to publish the results of the Kentucky Derby on Page 1. "Horse races," she ruled, "are vulgar." She feuded with Clare Booth Luce, wife of Time magazine's emperor, and the consensus was she won by a technical knockout. After all, Cissy went to press every day of the year.

Cissy was one of the first Women's Libbers, though she would have disdained the label because she was never insecure. In a front-page box, she airily dismissed critics who had wondered how a woman proposed to boss a male show. "Why should it be a harder job to boss men in the office than to boss them at home?" she asked. "Men have always been bossed by women, anyway, although most of them don't know it."

There is, too, the story of the reporter ordered by Cissy to describe the electric chair execution of two convicted murderers — in advance, so his piece would make the last morning edition. Inspired by periodic ingestions of bourbon, the reporter turned out 3,000 gruesome words, including a lurid account of what happened when the voltage hit a steel splin in the leg of one of the prisoners.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Ultrasound

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Sometime write about ultrasound therapy. I had a frozen shoulder and a series of ultrasound treatments took care of it and it was painless. I kept my arm in a sling to rest the weight, and I prefer ultrasound to cortisone. Also heat gives comfort and aids healing. M.N.B.

I hope other readers won't jump to the conclusion that ultrasound is necessarily the right or only treatment for all frozen shoulders. A "frozen shoulder" (which occurs when a shoulder joint won't move because of arthritis, extended immobility or other changes) can involve a variety of problems.

Sometimes, for instance, cortisone may be the best treatment. In other cases, neither ultrasound nor cortisone may do the job, and more elaborate treatment may be essential.

All the same, ultrasound can be very useful for a number of ailments. It may sound like witchcraft — using sound to treat people. Actually, it involves an established principle of physics: Sound consists of vibrations — vibrations in the air, normally — but vibrations can pass through other materials, too. Remember when you were a kid, and could make a sort of "telephone" with two tin cans, and a string stretched between them, fastened to the bottom of each can?

You talked into one tin can, the bottom of the can vibrated, and the sound the vibrations traveled along the taut string and made the other tin can vibrate, so the fellow at the other end could hear you.

As sound can travel along a piece of string, it can also travel through flesh.

The rate of vibration controls the tone — low frequency, a low note; high frequency, a high note. And ultrasound means a frequency so high that it is too high for the ear to hear. But it is still vibration, and it represents energy.

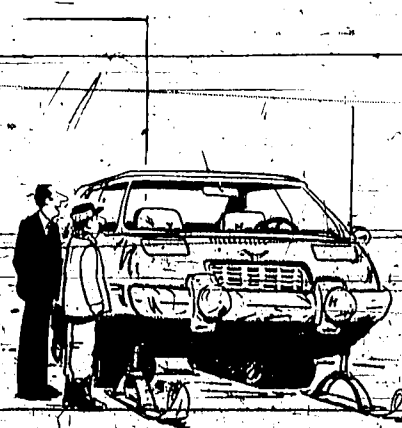

So when ultrasound is applied, it means that vibration — movement — is applied to the flesh.

This penetrates, and the infinitely tiny movement and the energy it represents creates heat.

In brief, ultrasound is a method of applying heat deep inside the tissues. It gets there in a twinkling of a second instead of having to seep through, as is the case with a hot water bottle or something.

The value of heat in healing and soothing has been recognized for a long time, but ultrasound, if you want to put it that way, is a method of "putting a hot water bottle inside." Inside the shoulder or any other joint. And it is useful.

MR. SPECTATOR

Someone Is Peeking

Those guys on the left are Officers Ron Gavey and Gene Ritchie of the Twin Falls police department. They are almost ready to do their thing to three gentlemen who are doing their thing. Namely, from the left, Mayon John Christoffersen, Dick Cook and City Councilman Mike Gray. Those big white things in front of the three are dice and you are looking at the "oldest established permanent floating crap game" anywhere. Mr. Spectator caught so many guys in this particular act that he had to take the picture longwise to get it in the column.

Actually, it's all a gag with Mr. Spectator giving a "push" to the "Guys and Dolls" production being put on by the Dilettantes. Mr. Cook plays "Big Jules" of East Chicago. The other four jents in the picture are just dressing so you would take a look. The production performances are this Friday, Saturday and Sunday and then Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 5, 10-12. You can get reserved tickets at the Boy Scout office in Twin Falls, Sullivan's Music in Jerome, Save-More Drug in Buhl, Dorothy's Beauty Shop in Filer and Blick and Reese in Castleford.

IT'S NOT THE PERIL

It's hard to imagine anything more hazardous than wielding heavy equipment and machinery over and through the ice and snow of Antarctica. But there is driving a car in traffic back in so-called civilization.

For a fact, Navy men returning to their U. S. bases after a season with Operation Deep Freeze in Antarctica are receiving lessons and tips on how to cope with that most dangerous of all pursuits — survival on a high-speed freeway.

The lessons consist of a series of four long lectures on traffic safety and defensive driving at the Navy's advance headquarters in "Christchurch, New Zealand. The lectures are designed to reorient the men to the faster pace and dangers of driving in the States.

"We want to impress upon our men the hazards," says an officer, "and remind them to watch out for pedestrians now instead of penguins."

Firm restrained

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho attorney general's office asked Fourth District Court Tuesday to enjoin Dare to Be Great, Inc., a Florida firm, from alleged violations of the Idaho Consumer Protection Act and Idaho Securities Act.

Fourth District Judge W. E. Smith has signed a temporary restraining order against Dare to Be Great, Glenn Turner Enterprises, Inc., and Turner himself, which will be in effect for 10 days.

A show cause hearing is scheduled March 19, to determine whether the corporation will be preliminarily enjoined and, if that is granted, there would be a decision following trial of a permanent injunction.

The complaint also asks the court to establish a fund to reimburse investors who wish to be reimbursed.

The complaint, signed by deputy attorney general Richard Greener, alleges the self-motivation course is taught to "train and prepare individuals to recruit other individuals to invest in and sell various phases of the self-motivation course."

Specifically, the complaint alleges actions and statements made by agents of the corporation are often misleading and alleges the defendants have "both directly and indirectly engaged in acts, practices and courses of business which operate as a fraud or deceit upon persons in the state of Idaho."

Senate revises criminal code

BOISE (UPI) — The senate passed three amendments to the revised criminal code today, then held a fourth until it determines what, if any, action to take on the code's repealer.

The measure to repeal the criminal code, passed by the house, is being held in the Senate Judiciary and Rules Committee which is also studying amendments.

Sen. Edith Miller Klein, R-Boise, chairman of the judiciary and rules committee, said the revised code is "an excellent re-write and reorganization of our criminal law" reached after six years of study and warned to repeal it would raise serious legal questions as to prosecution of crimes committed during the two months the criminal code has been in effect.

Both parties went to caucus, the Republican voting 16-3 to allow the judiciary and rules committee to retain the code.

Democrats caucus and then asked that debate on the amendment under consideration be held until a decision is made.

Sales tax receipts increase

BOISE (UPI) — February sales tax collections are buoying, Republican hopes the present tax base may produce more than the $132 million house taxwriters officially estimate next year.

Clyde Koontz, executive secretary of the State Tax Commission, told the Revenue and Taxation Committee Tuesday receipts were up 15.5 per cent from January.

February receipts amounted to $3,446,117 and January receipts totaled $3,034,846, Koontz said.

Later, Tax Committee Chairman Allan F. Larsen, R-Blackfoot, said he felt the information was "dramatic" enough to send a subcommittee back to work on revenue projections.

Noting opposition within the full committee to findings reported by the subcommittee when it came up with $132 million, however, Larsen shied away from ordering a re-study. But he indicated he would welcome it.

Senate Republicans have contended — though for different reasons — that the present tax base will generate $134 million during fiscal 1973.

Forced onto floor

BOISE (UPI) — A solid block of Democrats combined with three Republicans in the senate Tuesday to force from committee and onto the calendar the controversial criminal code repealer.

Despite a plea from Sen. Edith Miller Klein, R-Boise, chairman of the judiciary and rules committee, for a "few more days" in which to work up amendments, to the two-month-old code, the senate-voted 16-17 against her motion to leave the house-approved repealer in her committee.

Under normal procedure, the repealer would be up for debate Thursday.

Sens. Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs; John Peavey, R-Rupert, and Dane Watkins, R-Idaho Falls, combined with Democrats on the vote.

Church camp exemption set

BOISE (UPI) — The senate approved 23-8 and sent to the house Tuesday legislation designed to exempt from property taxation church-operated summer camps and recreational or educational facilities.

The bill would permit the exemption for any combination of religious, educational or recreational purposes if the property is not used for profit.

Resolution would veto two dams

BOISE (UPI) — A resolution that would veto action of an interim legislative committee in approving a joint contract venture to build two dams on Snake River was created Tuesday in the senate committee of the whole.

The vetoing action was built into a resolution offered previously by Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, that would have rescinded the interim legislative committee authorized to approve the joint venture.

Friday, that committee approved a contract between Idaho Power Co. and the Idaho Water Resource Board to build jointly the dams and power plants at Swan Falls and Gulfey.

Servicemen

GLENN FERRY — CT12 Harold Bybee, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bybee, was one of 30 sailors chosen to represent the United States in the funeral procession of King Frederick IX of Denmark in Copenhagen.

The honor guard was chosen from naval units stationed in Europe.

Driver aid trimmed

BOISE (UPI) — Told they would put some "fiscal responsibility" where it belongs, the house voted 27-7 Tuesday to cut maximum state aid for driver training to $50 per student from $55.

Rep. Larry Jackson, R-Boise, said during the last school year only 11 school districts received the maximum amount of state aid. He said 37 of the 118 in the state exceeded the $50 ceiling which this bill would put on state help.

McClure gets zero on ecology issues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, is among a handful of House members given a zero score on votes or key environmental issues during 1971.

The League of Conservation Voters gave 28 members of the House zero scores and urged constituents to vote them out of office. The organization endorses environmental cleanup.

Included among the 28 were Reps. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.; House Ways and Means Committee chairman, W. R. Pogue, D-Tex.; Agriculture Committee chairman, Wayne

N. Aspin, D-Colo.; Interior Committee chairman; Lesley C. Arends, R-Ill., House Republican whip; William M. Colmer, D-Miss., Rules Committee chairman; and F. Edward Herbert, D-La., Armed Services Committee chairman.

McClure hopes the voters will "take note of this and retire these people," said Marion Edley, League chairman.

The League, a nonpartisan group which contributes campaign money to candidates it considers effective advocates of environmental cleanup, said it would soon issue similar ratings for presidential candidates and senators.

Amnesty testimony heard

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One by one they came forward, conscientious objectors, convicted draft evaders, parents of sons who fled to Canada and veterans, all testifying on an issue that may become more divisive than the war itself—amnesty.

Views on the issue, being studied by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's administrative practice and procedure subcommittee, range from blanket amnesty for draft evaders and war deserters to their continued prosecution. Kennedy, in remarks opening the second day of hearings Tuesday, recognized that the issue produced angry reactions in many Americans. His own, still was running heavily against amnesty of any kind, he said.

"If we can release Jimmy Hoffa on the grounds of human compassion, can we not let these young men return, whose offenses are in no way comparable to Hoffa," he said. "Sam Kendall, whose son Timothy, 23, was serving four and a half years in Allenwood federal prison in Pennsylvania for refusing induction, urged the subcommittee not to attach any conditions to forgiveness. Do not punish them any further."

"What we must ask is whether our own commitment to a generation of peace is firm enough to include peace with our children," he said. Among those who testified in favor of amnesty was the Rev. Alexander C. Wilson, a Presbyterian minister from Burgettstown, Pa., whose son deserted the Army and fled to Canada.

"They're children," we say to ourselves. They'll grow up. But maybe they are the ones who are mature. Maybe we ought to grow up," he said.

Refugees oppose replating dam

MAN, W. Va. (UPI)—Weary refugees in West Virginia's worst flood disaster returned to their shattered valley in increasing numbers today, determined to rebuild their homes and to oppose any plans to replace a crumbled coal-waste dam.

At least 71 residents of Buffalo Creek Valley, most of them coal miners and their families, died Saturday when a mile-long waste water reservoir burst and sent a 30-foot wall of slime gushing through the Appalachian mining communities. Officials said 150 persons were still missing today and that 4,000 of the valley's 4,952 residents were homeless. Red Cross emergency shelters housed 640 of the homeless, while others moved in temporarily with relatives or friends.

"We'll move back. We'll make sure there are no dams," said Wallace Adkins, a 45-year-old coal miner.

THE COMMANDER'S SERVANT

The commander of one hundred men in the Roman army of occupation was called a centurion. He was a highly trained professional soldier and a successful tour of duty in Israel would lead to further promotions and recognition. His position brought power, influence and dread.

Yet the Gospel writers tell us of the centurion in the city of Capernaum who asked Jesus to heal his ailing servant. More than this, his request was endorsed and personally pleaded by the Jewish elders from the synagogue. This Roman had such respect for the Scriptures and such reverence for God that he had built the local synagogue and given it to the Jewish community.

Further discussions in St. Luke reveal that the man was truly humble, asked nothing for himself, and only for Jesus to "say the word" and his servant would return to health. His prayer was granted, for Jesus observed that nowhere in Israel had He found faith such as this.

Healing was a matter of faith and Jesus found it in abundance in this Roman headquarters.

2nd biggest Viet pullout

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. command announced today the second biggest troop pullout of the Vietnam war, including the withdrawal of an American tank squadron guarding the northern approaches to Saigon.

A command communiqué announced the deactivation of 32 Army units and one Air Force detachment with a total of 4,940 men. The units were based across the country from the Mekong Delta in the south to Da Nang in the north.

A U.S. spokesman said it was the second biggest pullout since America began withdrawing troops from Vietnam in 1968.

The largest was the withdrawal of 6,905 soldiers on July 1, 1971.

The latest pullout includes artillery, armored cavalry and helicopter units. The biggest unit involved was the 2nd Squadron of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment, which has patrolled the jungles north of Saigon.

The squadron's 1,000 men, who patrolled on foot and in tanks and armored personnel carriers, were based at Phu Loi, 12 miles north of the capital.

The withdrawal also included the 600 men of the 5th Battalion of the 42nd Artillery, which provided howitzer support for U.S. and South Vietnamese troops in military Region 3 just north of Saigon.

The communiqué announced the deactivation of two air cavalry troops (helicopter companies) operating west of Saigon and another unit based just north of the capital.

The other units pulled out included a scout dog platoon, transportation companies, engineer battalions, maintenance companies and scattered support detachments.

A command spokesman said the latest pullout left the United States with nine ground combat battalions in Vietnam, down from a high of 112 in 1969.

The spokesman said the withdrawal also left America with 2 1/2 artillery battalions in Vietnam from a high of 60 in 1969.

He said the withdrawal included the pullout of 110 U.S. helicopters, reducing the number of American choppers in the war zone to 1,000.

2 US deserters announce return

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Two American servicemen who fled to Sweden a year ago to escape the Vietnam war said today they will return to the United States because "we don't want to get caught up in the same vicious circle as other deserters here."

The two are Bob Davis, 15, Rockford, Ill., and John Kenic, 20, Newark, N.J.

"I risk six months in jail," Kenic said. "But I want to leave the Army behind me. I have two alternatives—court-martial or undesirable discharge. But the main thing is to get out of the service."

Davis said he served four months in Vietnam and then deserted in the United States when he was given a month's home leave after signing up for another six-year term in the Army. He then went to Sweden.

Davis, who said he was wounded once, served with the 101st Airborne Division as an artillery man at Firebase Ripcord, 40 miles south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

"After four months in Vietnam, I had had enough, so I made up my mind," he said.

The Pentagon papers

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A federal judge Tuesday ordered the government to set forth more specifically what it expects to prove against Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo, in the Pentagon papers trial.

U.S. District Court Judge William M. Byrne Jr. granted a series of defense requests for a bill of particulars, going over the 15-count indictment point by point, and ordering the prosecution to spell out when and where the alleged criminal acts took place.

Defense attorney Charles Nesson, a Harvard Law School professor, said, "In order to prepare an intelligent defense, we must know what we need to prove didn't happen. We need to know what the factual

Column raises grave question

Wednesday, March 1, 1972 Times News, Twin Falls, Idaho

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic National Chairman Lawrence E. O'Brien said Tuesday a column by Jack Anderson alleging dealings by Attorney General John N. Mitchell on an antitrust suit settlement raises "grave questions" about the integrity of the administration.

Anderson said a secret memorandum from the files of International Telephone and Telegraph (ITT) indicated the suit was settled when the firm pledged to contribute up to $400,000 for the Republican national convention in San Diego next August.

A spokesman for ITT denied the Anderson allegation, declaring "there was no deal of any kind to settle our antitrust cases."

The statement said the San Diego contribution by Sheraton Hotels, an ITT subsidiary, "was made as a nonpartisan joint effort of the San Diego community and was purely in support of a local situation."

Anderson said the memorandum was prepared by an ITT lobbyist, Dita Beard, who was later interviewed by the columnist's associate, Brit Hume.

Anderson said in his column: "She said she met with Mitchell at the governor's mansion in Kentucky during a dinner reception given by Republican Gov. Louie Nunn after the Kentucky Derby."

She said Mitchell confided to her he was sympathetic to ITT but had been prevented until then from helping the company because of the zeal of the Justice Department's antitrust chief, Richard McLaren.

And she said, when the Justice Department announced its settlement on July 31, more than two months later, it conformed to the agreement she had made with Mitchell.

Bill would limit attorneys' staff

BOISE (UPI) — By vote of 35-31, the house sent back to committee Tuesday a bill to prohibit the attorney general and his staff from engaging in private law practice.

Originating in the senate, the measure only required the attorney general to maintain a record of his written opinions when it reached the house.

But the house amended the measure to prevent state attorneys from engaging in private practice.

Rep. E. Don Copple, R-Boise, a strong proponent of the amended version of the bill said if state attorneys spent full time on state business maybe some state agencies would not have to hire private counsel.

But Rep. Terry Crapo, R-Idaho Falls, said that until such time as the attorney general's office is adequately funded his staff should be allowed to engage in private practice when it does not conflict with official duties.

He noted attorney general W. Anthony Park made such a plea to the judiciary committee earlier in the day.

Park told the committee that if he must make his men stop practicing law on the side he will lose the experienced ones because they can make much more money in full-time state practice than in full-time private practice.

He said he has a tight list of restrictions on the private practice which prevent his attorneys from representing banks, insurance companies or any other businesses regulated by the state.

Hughes' aide disclaims book

NEW YORK (UPI) — Robert A. Maheu, the former manager of Howard Hughes' gambling empire, told a federal grand jury Tuesday he had nothing to do with Clifford Irving's discredited "autobiography" of the billionaire industrialist.

Maheu testified for one hour and 45 minutes before the grand jury which is considering charges of mail fraud, perjury and forgery against Irving.

The grand jury will question Irving and his wife again this week and also may call four current Hughes aides before it winds up its month-long investigation into what has been labeled the biggest hoax in modern publishing history.

Emerging from the grand jury room, Maheu told newsmen that from what he had heard and read Irving's book "has all the earmarks of coming from the Phelan manuscript."

He referred to an unpublished draft of a book about Hughes prepared by reporter James Phelan for Noah Dietrich, another former Hughes aide.

"I tried to help out in this investigation," Maheu said. "I answered all questions they had and most assuredly told them I do not know one Clifford Irving and to the best of my knowledge I have never seen this individual."

Maheu said he doubted Irving's story that he had met face-to-face with Hughes on a number of occasions to tape the "autobiography," which Hughes himself has branded a fake in telephone talks with newsmen.

"Naturally it's possible but very improbable," Maheu said.

Four guerrillas released on bail

CAIRO (UPI) — Four Palestinian guerrillas accused of assassinating Jordanian Prime Minister Wasfi Tel Nov. 28 will be released on bail, the semi-official Middle East News Agency (MENA) said Tuesday.

"The supreme state security court today decided to release the four Palestinians involved in the Wasfi Tel affair on payment of $2,500 bond each," the agency said.

Tel was shot to death on the steps of Cairo's Nile-side Sheraton Hotel while he was in the Egyptian capital for a meeting of Arab defense ministers.

Four Palestinians claiming to be members of a guerrilla group known as "the hand of Black September" were arrested and charged with the murder.

The four are 29-year-old Mohammed al-Hajou, Mohammed Nabil Hussein, Jawad Ahmed Abu Azizah and Mohammed Khalid Khushan.

They told newsmen at the time they killed the 51-year-old premier to avenge the death at the hand of the Jordanian army last summer of guerrilla leader Abu Iyyad, who led a vain resistance to King Hussein's drive to expel guerrillas from the country.

One of them drank blood from Tel's wounds as he lay dying on the sidewalk.

Earlier this month, the four men went on trial in Cairo. They admitted the killings but said they were "executioners" not murderers.

Highlight of the trial was a coroner's report which said that the two bullets which killed Tel were not fired from the weapons seized from the four men after the assassination.

Guard

slain in Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — A bank guard was slain and three others wounded Tuesday in a gunfight in the Fifth Federal Reserve Bank, which police said was apparently the result of an argument among the guards.

Authorities at the Medical College of Virginia Hospital confirmed that one of four admitted there was dead. His identity was not immediately released. The names and conditions of the other three victims also were not known.

Nevada surplus

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — Tax experts are predicting that Nevada will have a record $10.8 million surplus in the state treasury on June 30, 1973.

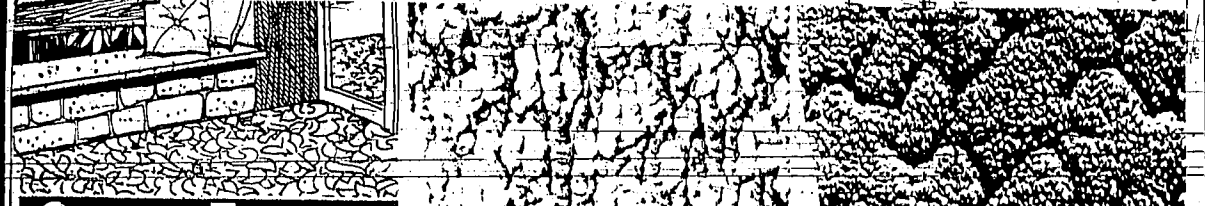

Deputy fiscal analyst John P. Dolan said Monday tax receipts are coming in faster than anticipated and there will be an extra $8.6 million from an unexpected federal rebate on slot machines.

Service records identify drug users

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon said Tuesday it stamps the number SPN384 on the records of servicemen discharged for using drugs, permanently identifying them to their prospective employers and supervisors as drug users.

Defending the practice, Assistant

Defense Secretary Richard S. Wilbur told a Senate subcommittee that employers need to know whether a man has a drug problem.

"It is a valid part of a person's record just as if he had a hernia," Wilbur said.

But Sen. Harold Hughes, D-

Iowa, promised legislation or legal action to stop the practice. He said it "brands men for life" for indiscretions committed while they were young, some of them in Vietnam under great duress, with a supply of drugs readily available.

"Apparently this bothers you a great deal," Wilbur told Hughes.

"It bothers me a great deal. Well, that's too bad. He said it is valuable for an employer to know about a man's problems."

Wilbur gave the example of an electric company assigning a man to work with high tension lines. He said the information about his service medical record would be important both to the company and the man.

"Have you no knowledge of what this does to a man for the rest of his days?" Hughes asked.

"When does a man ever get rid of this number, SPN384? Have you looked at it? The employer will have in applying for a job?"

Wilbur, a physician, said the public should be educated that drug abuse and alcoholism are "diseases."

"The vast majority of people outgrow this sort of thing," he said.

"I hope everyone will look at it as a sickness, and treat them not like lepers who must be cast out but as people who need our help."

The Iowa senator, a former alcoholic, issued figures compiled by his Armed Services subcommittee on drug abuse showing that discharges for drug abuse rose by nearly 40 per cent in 1971—from 8,550 the previous year to 9,000.

He questioned whether men were being turned out of the service after only a cursory attempt to treat them.

But Wilbur said that in the Navy—which experienced the biggest number of such discharges—sailors were found to have claimed to be drug users to get out of their service obligations.

Physicians can tune in surgery

NEW YORK (UPI)—Medical education moved into the 21st Century Tuesday via video cassette—a development that enables doctors to tune in the latest surgical techniques through their home-television sets.

A demonstration showing the system in action at the New York Academy of Sciences featured an audiovisual lesson in neurosurgery, planned and executed by the distinguished neurosurgeon, Dr. Bronson S. Ray.

Ray, professor emeritus of neurosurgery at the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center, is acknowledged by his peers as a pace-setter in the technique of intracranial operations on the pituitary gland.

This ductless gland, often called the "master gland," secretes substances that exert control over growth. Too little secretion and there is dwarfism. Too much and the opposite, gigantism, occurs. Operations involving the pituitary have come into prominence in recent years as a palliative therapy in cases of breast and prostate gland cancer. In other cases, particularly where cancer has attacked the pituitary, surgical removal frequently is the mode of treatment preferred by increasing numbers of neurosurgeons.

The operation, a delicate one, frequently shows greatest success through techniques developed by Ray. That is one reason the Society of Neurological Surgeons, through its Research Foundation, deigned to feature Ray and his surgical modus operandi in its first video cassette "journal" for neurosurgeons.

The "journal," produced through AVENS, Audiovisual Education in Neurosurgery, is the first of 12 in preparation for the nation's neurosurgeons to hook up to conventional television sets in the hospital or in their homes.

Corps denies air pollution

WALLA WALLA (UPI) — The Army Corps of Engineers has denied a charge that it was creating "thoughtless air pollution" by the burning of fruit trees along the Snake River west of Lewiston.

The trees are being burned as part of the program to prepare the pool behind Lower Granite Dam for flooding in 1975.

The corps was charged with "thoughtless air pollution in the burning of the fruit trees in Alpon Creek Orchards" west of Clarkston in a resolution approved over the weekend by the Lewiston Citizens' Forum.

Frank King, Walla Walla district public information officer for the corps, said the corps was just obeying state law by the burning of the trees.

King said the wood cannot be transported anywhere else for disposal under the law.

"If the orchards are not cared for insects and disease could affect other orchards," King said.

Buckley endorses Ohio Republican

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI) — Conservative columnist William F. Buckley, claiming President Nixon's China visit showed him Taiwan had been "sold out" by the United States, Tuesday endorsed the presidential candidacy of Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio.

The endorsement came as candidates began their final week of campaigning for New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation primary next Tuesday. Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., who is opposing Nixon and Ashbrook for the GOP nomination, visited the seacoast area while Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles, a Democratic hopeful, was scheduled to return to the state late Tuesday night.

BOISE (UPI) — Development of Boise's renewal project may stop if two major department stores do not agree to occupy the development in the near future.

Earlley Glass Sr., chairman of the Greater Boise Chamber of Commerce Urban Redevelopment Committee, said the project is going to have to have at least two major stores to make development of the balance of the project feasible.

Women's Lib threatens most men

"A sexual revolution would require, perhaps first of all, an end of traditional sexual inhibitions and taboos, particularly those that threaten patriarchal monogamous marriage..." — Kate Millett.

By GEORGE FRANK
United Press International
An Idaho legislator was heard lamenting about an abortion bill which simply stated that women would have full control over their reproductive systems.

"What about me," he asked those sitting in the back room of the Senate. "Don't I have any say about whether my child is born or not?"

A woman sitting at the table looked at the middle-aged politician and tilted her head.

"I think when you're married the two of you could decide the matter," the woman said. "I think it is poorly worded," the lawmaker said.

Most men, like the legislator, are threatened by the movement for women's rights. Many hide their fear and lack of understanding by ignoring the issue completely, while others act as if they understand and then spend hours trying to justify what it is all about.

Mary Standes, 25, told UPI she thought women's liberation "is a fashion like hot pants, mini-skirts or hula hoops." Standes, a service station owner, believes it will all go away.

"The movement is a good thing and long overdue," said Ann Ludlow of Pocatello. "I think women ought to be free to do whatever they want to do as long as the rights of others are not denied and others are not oppressed."

Mrs. Ludlow, the wife of an Idaho State University campus minister who is running for the second congressional district seat, says the way society has treated the woman "is a second class citizen."

grained in women and these same males are in control of society," she said.

Mrs. Ludlow said she is all for equality, but she has reservations about the "women power" theory of some of the activists.

"This thing about test tube babies is a pretty grim hypothesis. I don't know if I can go along with that," she said. One of the questions most asked by men during a UPI survey was: "What happens when they get all their rights?"

Wednesday, March 1, 1972 Times News, Twin Falls, Idaho 9

Ralph Marshall, an associate professor of sociology at the College of Idaho, said: "A considerable proportion of our women and girls in America have been taught to think of themselves as wives and mothers," he said. "However, the rewards of being a wife and mother are not necessarily superior to other social rewards."

"It appears one function of women's liberation is to reach girls and women seriously to consider self images other than a domestic image."

Dr. Marshall, who is married and has a family, says even if the learning process within the movement is successful he did not anticipate a wholesale decision by females "to eschew marriage and parenthood."

"I believe those who marry and have children will do so because there seems to be no other alternative," he said. Marshall, who teaches courses in the sociological aspects of women's liberation, says if the predictions are correct there may be fewer marriages but stronger and happier families.

Another often heard comment is "when the woman is liberated then so will the man." But no one could give an answer on what the male's final attitude would be after women are liberated.

"The male ego is very fragile," said Rosalyn Barry, an editor for the Caldwell News Tribune. "It is partly because of the way he has been brought up."

Mrs. Barry, who is active in women's rights in Idaho, says men have been brought up to be "the strong aggressive animal," while the women have been taught to move to the background and not be heard.

"I think women's liberation is as much about men as it is about women," she said.

As the changes come, she said, "women will have to be careful not to damage the male ego. A lot of whether a marriage will succeed is up to how women handle the situation."

The veteran reporter said as women become liberated there will be areas of tension between mates. She said one of these areas will be if the wife receives more attention professionally than the male. And if she earns more money than her husband.

"Each couple will have to work out their own standard and relationship without threatening the others ego," she said.

But Rose Bowman, a candidate for the U.S. Senate, says any competent male should be able to handle the changes of liberation both professionally and socially.

Pakistan faces another problem

By DALE D. MORSE

United Press International
Less than three months after losing a disastrous war that cost Pakistan its most valuable territory, President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto's troubled nation is primed with the fuse of yet another explosion.

Whether the new president can keep the lid on the powder keg will depend greatly on how much popular support he can muster.

Forcible seizures of factories, by workers, defiant industrialists, rebellious tribesmen, prison riots, opposition party pressure and police strikes accompanied by rioting, looting and arson have pushed Bhutto's government to the breaking point.

forces in Pakistan in an attempt to consolidate his political power through the establishment of a "People's Government."

The nation's wealthiest families virtually ignored Bhutto's threats of death and banishment unless they returned to Pakistan the $400 million worth of foreign exchange he believed they had stashed away abroad. These families, traditionally hold the keys to power in Pakistan's political hierarchy.

How much support he can expect from the Pakistan army — the force mainly responsible for holding the country together from the time it was carved out of the subcontinent in 1947 — is a question on which few Pakistanis are willing to speculate.

Bhutto's arrest of the president he succeeded, Gen. Agha Mohammad Yahya Khan, and the army chief of staff, Gen. Abdul Hamid Khan, plus the retirement of scores of other ranking officers did little to gain the confidence of the nation's demoralized armed forces after the war with India.

By encouraging the growth of his own corps of vigilantes from among his supporters, mainly from his pro-Peking Pakistan People's Party (PPP), Bhutto put the police at direct loggerheads with the establishment.

His attempt to placate the police and to end the strikes by agreeing to higher pay and recognition of their unions is unlikely to calm the situation because the strikes are politically motivated.

Looming behind Bhutto's myriad problems is the National Awami Party (NAP), which is strongly pro-Moscow. In the 1970 elections the NAP emerged as the second largest party to Bhutto's PPP.

Its chief is Khan Abdul Wali Khan, son of the aging Khan Abdul Ghafoor Khan, the "Frontier Gandhi" who led the abortive Pukhtoonistan revolt and eventually was forced into exile in neighboring Afghanistan.

Even more ominous for Pakistan is the role that the Soviet Union may be playing behind the scenes in the general turmoil.

Pakistan newspapers last week openly accused Moscow of having a hand in police strikes and of trying to foment a political blowup that would force the collapse of Bhutto's government. Only days earlier, prominent Pakistani leaders charged the Soviet Union with smuggling arms to the rebellious tribesmen of the Baluchistan and North West Frontier provinces.

The long festering movement for an independent Pukhtoonistan in these two areas could blow into a fullscale uprising as it did 10 years ago and could lead to another civil war to preserve the nation's territorial integrity as did the rebellion last year in East Pakistan which led to the creation of Bangladesh.

Bhutto has few resources at his disposal to cope with a general uprising. After taking over as the head of an almost bankrupt country in December, he alienated the most powerful

Ashbrook says China sold out

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI)

Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, today charged that President Nixon "sold out" Nationalist China and began the process under which Taiwan would eventually lose its freedom as an independent nation.

Campaigning in the New Hampshire primary, Ashbrook called a news conference to denounce Nixon's trip to China and charged that the President had undermined the entire fabric of United States treaties in Asia.

Appearing in a stripped-down disheveled, Ashbrook was accompanied by conservative columnist William F. Buckley, who had made the trip to China with Nixon.

"Asked point-blank if he was accusing President Nixon of 'selling out' to Red China, Ashbrook hedged and said he was only charging the President with a 'sell out from a commitment to an ally.'"

The conservative Ohio congressman said that to accuse Nixon of a "sell out to Red China" would be tantamount to charging the President with treason.

"It is a sellout to principles, not a sellout to China," Ashbrook said in a sharp exchange with newsmen who tried to pin him down on what he meant.

But he added, "We are entering the countdown on Taiwan and how long they can keep their freedom as an independent nation."

Youth benefit greater, Burley health meet told

BURLEY — Young people plotting life expectancy at various ages in 1900 and in 1960, he found that concentrated health care for the young has increased life expectancy for infants far more than for the elderly, whose lesser emphasis on health has been placed.

In 1900, Peavey said, an individual at birth could expect to live 48.2 years, compared to 67.5 years in 1960 — a gain of 19.3 years. At the age of one year, life expectancy increased to 55.6 years in 1900, and 69.3 years in 1960 — a gain of 13.7 years.

However, as a person ages, the picture changes markedly. At the age of 30, the turn of the century American had a life expectancy of 64.9 years, compared to 69.9 in 1960, for a gain of five years, and the elderly person, 60 years of age, had a life expectancy of 74.4 years in 1900, compared to 76.0 in 1960.

Using data developed by the Center for Disease Control around the mythical city of Dixon and Tiller County, the health officials were asked to develop analytical charts to indicate socioeconomic disease rates in Dixon, age, sex and race ratios, sources of disease and similar material.

Following this workout and a lunch break, the seminar students' focus shifted for a survey of identification of problems, led by Robert E. Sanders, a CD training officer. Sanders explained techniques of identifying serious disease problems in a community, outlining a number of complex formulae utilized by various government agencies to determine priorities.

The participants then returned to their workshop format to analyze sample data concerning Dixon and determine priorities of disease control.

Elmore youth takes contest

SHOSHONE — Fred Luj, Mountain Home, won the American Legion Oratorical Contest Monday night at the Lincoln School, Shoshone.

He was one of four contestants who participated in the District Four event, and will now enter the state contest later this spring.

Other contestants were Bonnie Trounson, Wendell, who was second-place winner; John Lawson, King Hill, third, and Roger Goicoechea, Richfield, fourth.

Elmer I. Terry, Shoshone, chairman of the district contest, has served in this position for many years. He said Austin Bergin, Shoshone, was the first winner of the district contest and went all the way to the area contest in Sacramento, Calif., only being defeated by 3-10 of a point there.

One Idaho contestant, now Sen. Frank Church, won the National American Oratorical Contest when he was 17.

Judges for the event Monday were Mrs. Arlene Lynette, Glens Ferry; Ollie W. Bates, Mountain Home; Annette Eaton, Wendell; Howard E. Adkins, Shoshone, and Olan Beal, Fairfield.

Clerks were Harry Eden and Mrs. L. M. Hatmaker, Shoshone, and Bob Lawson, Glens Ferry; Roger Kelley, Shoshone, was timekeeper.

Jack Bowlin and Robert Lewin, of the Shoshone American Legion Post, assisted with arrangements.

Equipment arrives at Cassia hospital

BURLEY — The Cassia County Memorial Hospital here is the first medical center in the Magic Valley to purchase equipment that makes use of radioactive isotopes.

The technique involves the use of a photo-scanner, to help physicians diagnose brain tumors and cancer in almost every area of the body.

The procedure involves giving the patient an exact dosage of radioactive material before he is placed underneath the scanner which passes over the part of the body being tested for a disease. The machine then "paints a picture" of the disease organ or other part of the body.

The equipment just placed in operation cost the hospital $18,000. Prior to this innovation, patients had to travel to Boise or to Salt Lake City to receive this particular type of diagnosis.

Officers searching for eight escapees

ST. ANTHONY (UPI) — The state youth training center superintendent said Tuesday all but eight of 21 boys who escaped Monday night were apprehended.

Robert Parrish said law enforcement officials were searching for the other eight.

The youths escaped in three separate groups, including one or two who live in cottage quarters. They overpowered a supervisor and took his keys, but did not harm him.

Some of the boys were apprehended after they escaped in stolen vehicles. They were caught following high speed chases between St. Anthony and Idaho Falls.

One youth, however, was taken into custody in Murtough in Twin Falls County early Tuesday morning.

Parrish said the escape may have had something to do with a touch of "spring fever."

Minico won't require makeup

By LEE THREMAINE
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Minidoka County students will not have to make up time lost during weather-enforced school closures, unless things get much worse.

Trustees of the Minidoka County School District, decided to file the required "days closed" certificate with the State Department of Education for three days lost during the first semester, without requiring any makeup time for the three days, or for the four days so far this semester, during a board meeting Tuesday night.

Trustees also accepted bids from three firms for purchase of four new school buses.

Concerning the continued problem with weather which has forced the Minidoka County Schools to shut down for seven days, including Tuesday, trustees noted a problem with teachers who have been required to report to their classrooms even when students are not present.

Since teachers are under contract for only 100 days each year — 180 class days plus additional days at the start and end of the year — makeup days might extend their days of service beyond the contractual period.

On a suggestion from Dr. Darrell Hatfield, district superintendent, the teachers not be required to report to their schools from now on if the schools are shut down, trustees agreed to await further weather developments before deciding whether to extend the school year to make up for lost time.

The board adopted a resolution declaring the three days lost in the first semester to be required "for the safety of the students," and beyond the power of the district to prevent.

Trustees accepted bids from three firms for two 66-passenger buses with automatic transmissions but conventional seating, and two 73-passenger vehicles with standard transmissions and fiberglass seats. The total package will cost the district $34,000, plus freight. A portion of the cost will be reimbursed by federal funds, according to Hatfield.

The successful bidders were Williamson Idaho Equipment Co., Pocatello, to supply two 72-passenger bus bodies manufactured by Wayne Equipment Co., Clark Motor Co., Rupert, two 66-passenger bodies, manufactured by Ward, and Goode Motor Co., Rupert, for the four bus chassis.

Trustees also agreed to set a minimum fee for use of the West Minico gymnasium and allied facilities for a planned northwest basketball tournament of deaf players, scheduled for the spring of 1974. George Wilding, of Rupert, named chairman of the tournament, asked for the facilities, Hatfield said.

Trustees agreed to keep fees strictly at cost, saying the participants represented a worthy cause.

The Minidoka trustees will make their annual official tour of the schools next Wednesday, beginning at Minico High School at 8 a.m.

Jerome names new principal

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — The Jerome School Board of Trustees in a special meeting Tuesday night approved Bill Emerson for junior high school principal.

Emerson will succeed Ray Baker, who resigned effective at the end of the school term to become superintendent at Piler.

Supt. John Campbell presented Emerson's name to the board for its approval now, saying that a great deal of speculation had developed among the district's staff concerning personnel changes.

The board also approved the superintendent's recommendation that LeVere Gooch assume Emerson's position as administrative assistant at the high school. Dallas Ward was approved to continue as administrative assistant at the junior high.

Campbell told the board that Emerson is qualified for the position and will still coach varsity basketball. The schedule will be changed so that Emerson will be available during school hours at the junior high.

To save money the tentative budget may call for a six-period day instead of the present seven periods, Campbell said. Some things in the curriculum would have to be sacrificed to do this. "We may only carry graduation course requirements," Campbell said.

He said he should have a complete report for the board at its next regular meeting March 13.

In other board action the termination of two options of land was approved. The district had options on two sections of land owned by Harold Gray and Leonard Schulsen. They were intended for the construction of a new high school had the bond issue passed.

The board also accepted the resignation of Sandy Hight, physical education instructor who was in charge of the drill team, effective immediately.

A long discussion between a delegation of parents, high school principal Jerry Diehl and the trustees followed. Diehl told the parents that at present the drill team would not attend the state competition in Boise at the end of March.

He explained that the instructor, Miss Hight, had just resigned because of pressure and unrest among the drill team members. Diehl also said because of other problems, including girls fighting among themselves, he did not think they should represent Jerome at the meet.

"And because of the loss of the teacher and the unrest among the team, they are not prepared to compete," Diehl said.

He noted that Mrs. Roy Parton had donated her time to drill the girls and was having problems with them also. Following more discussion, the board approved a motion by trustee Gordon Hatfield that the school district take appropriate steps to see that the team gets to Boise.

Dale Vining, chairman, said he would like to have a report to the board at its next meeting concerning the team's progress. If unsatisfactory, the board could rescind its motion and the team would not go to Boise.

ATAMI, Japan (UPI) — An 18-story hotel in this hot springs seaside resort will block off a favorite suicide cliff and provide guests with fishing from their rooms.

The 250-room hotel is being built against the side of a cliff 164 feet high and noted for its many suicide leaps. The hotel will jut over the sea so that guests may fish out of the windows. It is scheduled to open in October.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Insects and disease destroy 2.4 billion cubic feet of timber a year, it is estimated by the American Forest Institute.

Juvenile arrested

TWIN FALLS — A 15-year-old juvenile was taken into custody Tuesday afternoon by Twin Falls Police.

Officers said the boy is charged with illegal possession of a controlled substance.

He was apprehended at a Twin Falls school and was released to his parents pending further action.

Probed

HANSEN — Sheriff's officers are continuing investigation of a break-in at Urie Brothers Service in Hansen.

Sheriff Paul Corder said between $200 and $225 worth of tools, cigarettes, candy, an adding machine, a radio and other items were taken.

Officers said entry was made through a north window Monday night.

Suspect returned to face charges

TWIN FALLS — Another suspect has been returned from California to face drug charges in Twin Falls.

Sheriff Paul Corder returned Frederick C. Notestine, 30, Sunnyside, Calif., here on warrant charging delivering a controlled substance and illegal possession of a controlled substance.

Jerome County also has one charge of illegal delivery of a controlled substance against Notestine.

Sheriff Corder said Notestine is believed to be connected with a dozen other young men who have been arrested in related cases since Jan. 31.

Notestine appeared in magistrate court before Judge Daniel Meehl. Bond on the charge was set at $1,000.

Notestine has requested a preliminary hearing. He remains in custody at the county jail.

Hollister signup Friday

HOLLISTER — Registration for Hollister kindergarten will be Friday instead of Monday as previously announced.

Mrs. Dave Kramer, teacher, said registration will be from 8:45 to 11:15 a.m. Friday at the Hollister Grade School. Classes begin Monday and will run through April 28. Hours are 8:45 to 11:15 a.m.

Mrs. Kramer said the kindergarten is open to children who will be entering first grade at Hollister this fall.

She said parents are asked to bring birth certificates to registration. The kindergarten is being sponsored by the Booster Club of the Hollister Grade School. A $5 fee for supplies will be charged.

No more power

BOISE (UPI) — Apparently unwilling to give too much power to a state-level body, the senate killed 15-16 Tuesday a bill slightly strengthening the Idaho Commission on Human Rights.

Shortly afterward, the senate voted 10-17 against reconsideration of the bill, thus locking in the defeating vote.

TF zoning unit okays proposals

TWIN FALLS — Two areas were recommended to be zoned as low density residential areas by the Twin Falls City Planning and Zoning Commission.

In the first public hearing Monday, the commission approved the zoning of Canyon Crest Subdivision, number three. This area is proposed as an annexation to the city.

Another parcel of land, the Kinggate Subdivision, proposed to be annexed to the city, was recommended for residential, low density classification.

The land is the northwest one quarter of the southwest one quarter, and a portion on the southwest one quarter of section 11, township 10 south, range 17 east Bolso Meridian.

In other action the commission held a public hearing to amend the zoning ordinance for additional allowable uses in the commercial-general and industrial zone.

The amendment was approved and the commission recommended to add veterinary hospitals as a conditional use in the C-G District—Zone and add veterinary hospitals as a conditional use in Industrial District Zone.

A recommendation to amend the sign regulations for the C-G Zone was delayed until the exact boundaries for the sign ordinance were defined.

The commission approved the concept of the amendment and probably will recommend to the City Council that it be adopted when a boundary is defined, according to Reed Conlam, commission secretary.

Truck, train collide near Burley

Burley man, 68, Yearly meet hurt in crash

BURLEY — Vernell Anderson, 68, Burley, was injured in the collision of a train and pickup truck west of here Tuesday.

Anderson was reported in fair condition at Cassia Memorial Hospital today. He was taken there for treatment of his injuries.

The collision occurred at noon when Anderson's southbound pickup and an eastbound Union Pacific locomotive collided at a crossing on the exit road from the Bryant Packing Co.

Cassia County Sheriff Ray Mitchell said the train dragged the 1971 model pickup about 75 feet along the tracks before coming to a stop. Anderson remained in the truck cab, although the vehicle was demolished.

E. G. Simmitt, 55, Rupert, was the engineer of the train. Riding the engine were Al Zoerß and Bill Rash, both Rupert. The locomotive was undamaged.

Mitchell said investigation of the collision is continuing.

Senior citizen director named

TWIN FALLS — Activities of Senior Citizens Agencies in the Twin Falls, Jerome and Cassia areas is now under the direction of Robert L. Hale.

Hale succeeds Ray Prueg who resigned to accept another position. He is a native of Rupert and graduated from schools in Hollywood, Calif.

He comes to Twin Falls from Coeur d'Alene and has been engaged in selling public relations work and has served as a volunteer in agencies such as senior citizens in the past.

Hale is currently attending the College of Southern Idaho studying courses to enable him to qualify as a social worker. He and his wife and daughter have moved to Twin Falls.

Pirates outgun Devils, gain A-4 tourney finals

BURLEY — The Hagerman Pirates unleashed a devastating shooting attack, including three men with more than 20 points, as they outran the Murtaugh Red Devils 91-67 and moved into the finals of the sixth district A-4 basketball tournament.

Everyone's activated

The Pirates, who went into the event ranked as the favorite, will meet Oakley about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and will need two victories over the Hornets to claim the title and the one berth in the state tournament in Lewiston next week. Oakley remains undefeated and has two chances to win one and claim all the marbles.

For a while Tuesday night Murtaugh looked like it might be able to beat Hagerman at its own game—running. Redheaded John Flynn, finishing up for varsity years at Murtaugh, was virtually unstoppable in the first half. But late in the third period the Pirates broke away from a 50-50 tie by hitting the next 12 points and that settled it.

During that span—and much of the third quarter—Murtaugh couldn't—or wouldn't—go to Flynn and began relying on outside shots. At the same time, Hagerman took the edge in the running game by its big men, particularly Doug Butler and Clauner, began beating Murtaugh's big men down the floor. They either ravaged the Devils with short jumpers or made assist passes from side court that resulted in layins.

However, it was the Pirates' shooting that provided the fireworks. Clauner, having his best night of the year, hit five in a row during the second half and would up with 24 points; the same as Doug Butler who was consistent in his scoring throughout, and Greg Laughlin added 21 more. Flynn grabbed scoring honors with 27, but Murtaugh had no one else to challenge Hagerman's backup scorers.

There were four ties and three lead changes in the first period, which ended with Hagerman on top 20-19. After two more lead changes in the second quarter and ties at 27-20 and 31, Stuart Tolman, Denney and Tolman again hit from the outside to open up the biggest lead to that point at 37-31 for Murtaugh. Clauner and Laughlin cut that to a tie but in the final minute, Denney hit five Murtaugh points for a 42-37 advantage.

The first six minutes of the third period were virtually a replay of the first half with Hagerman hitting the first six points for a one-point lead and the teams then saw-sawing and tying up to the point that Laughlin hit a free throw to establish the 60-50 tie.

Butler hit twice and Clauner once to open up a 56-50 lead with 2:36 remaining in the period and then Hendrickson got a free throw and Laughlin and Wilson added free throws to end the period. Wilson shoved Nagerman ahead 63-50 as the last quarter began before Murtaugh's Perkins finally hit a 15-foot jumper to break a four-minute scoring drought that sent the Red Devils to the sidelines.

LOOSE BALL under the board brings a lot of action from the Murtaugh Red Devils and Hagerman Pirates during action Tuesday in the A-4 tournament. Devils Rob Wright (53) and John Flynn (27) are out of it as are Pirates Doug Butler (34) and Wilson (33). The ball ended up with Clauner (22) and Greg Laughlin (24). Hagerman won 91-67.

place in the Big Sky Conference standings.

Sabins took advantage of a 1-1 free throw called when Greg Bunn blocked his drive to the basket and then converted both technical fouls called on BSC coach Murray Satterfield to change a 72-69 ISU lead to a seven-point advantage. Then on the in-bounds play following the free throws, ISU center Ev Fopma was fouled and he converted both free throws to give Idaho State a nine-point margin and the Bengals coasted to victory.

Fopma was high scorer for the game with 32 big points which boosted his season total to 581, making him the fifth high scorer in one season for ISU basketball history. Sabins was second highest for ISU with 18 counters.

The Bengals were deadly on the free throw line cashing in on an amazing 38-42 opportunities and shot 46 per cent from the field. Boise was cold from the field shooting 37 per cent, but was somewhat hot at the charity stripe at 78 per cent.

The Bengals outbounded the Broncos and as usual, forward Edison Hicks was high man with 15 caroms while 6-2 forward Nick Ysursa and Fopma chipped in with eight.

Boise was led in the scoring department by guard Booker Brown who had 22 points, 10 of them in the second half, when he seemed to be the only man holding Boise State in the ball game.

BSC forward Bunn had 19 but only one of those came in the second half.

ISU closes out the 1971-72 season with six consecutive wins, all in Conference play, to land the Bengals a share of second place in the Big Sky Conference with an 8-6 record. The Idaho State club is 14-12 for the season.

Boise State dropped to an even 7-7 in Big Sky competition.

Q—How much of the air intake of a bird is expelled with each breath?
A—Unlike a mammal, which does not completely empty their lungs, birds expel all the air from their lungs with each breath.

Winding up the drive

GETTING INSIDE, Murtaugh's John Flynn scores on the end of a drive. Trying to stop him is Hagerman's Doug Butler (34). Hagerman won 91-67 to gain the finals against Oakley tonight at the Burley gymnasium.

Post-season tournament bids sent out to colleges today

NEW YORK (UPI)—Athletic directors and basketball coaches at 14 colleges around the nation should get an important telephone call Wednesday.

It's time for the first basketball tournament bids to go out and the NCAA is planning to invite nine independent teams Wednesday while the National Invitation Tournament (NIT) is expected to hand out its first five bids.

The NCAA bids will go out from its office in Kansas City while the NIT selection committee will make its announcement from Madison Square Garden in New York.

The NCAA bids will go out an hour before the NIT bids so the NCAA will have first choice of the clubs.

The NCAA will select three teams in the East, two in the Midwest, three in the West and one in the West.

Since there are a number of strong teams in the Midwest, including Marquette, Marshall, Detroit and Florida State, it's likely that one of the Midwest teams will get a Midwest bid.

Two years ago, the NCAA tried to shift Marquette from the Midwest to the Midwest but coach Al McGuire refused to make the switch and took an NIT bid instead. The Warriors went on to win the NIT that year.

This year Marquette is in an unusual position. The Warriors have lost only one game but the squad has been hurt by the loss of star Jim Chones, who signed a pro contract. Since the Warriors have almost no chance of winning the NCAA without Chones, the team is likely to have a better shot in the NIT.

But coach McGuire indicated Tuesday the Warriors will accept an NCAA bid when he said, "we will accept any bid we get."

The clubs most likely to get tournament bids to the NCAA are South Carolina, Marshall and Duquesne in the East, Marquette and Florida State in the Midwest, Detroit, Houston and Oral Roberts in the Midwest and Hawaii in the West.

PCAA won't let San Diego go

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Pacific Coast Athletic Association Council Tuesday rejected a request by San Diego State to withdraw from the conference in football but said the matter would be reconsidered at its spring meeting in June.

The conference's executive committee will conduct a study of the PCAA's goals and objectives, according to a league statement.

Donald E. Walker, San Diego State acting president, asked PCAA commissioner Jess Hill Feb. 1 that the Aztecs be allowed to quit the league in football.

The PCAA last Dec. 16 rejected a request by Cal State Los Angeles to leave the conference in football for three years. That action came on the heels of UC Santa Barbara's announcement that it was dropping the sport.

Other members of the conference are University of Pacific, San Jose State, Cal State Long Beach and Fresno State.

In other action Tuesday, the PCAA council approved freshman eligibility in varsity football and basketball beginning September, 1972.

Gophers regain share of lead

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Guard Bob Nix scored six straight points in the waning minutes to cap a 16-point comeback and give Minnesota a 48-43 victory over Purdue and a share of the big ten basketball lead Tuesday night.

With 5:17 remaining and the Gophers trailing 39-37, Nix dropped in two free throws to tie it, then swished a 30-foot jump shot two minutes later to give the Gophers a 41-40 lead, their first in the cold shooting, ragged game.

Purdue took the lead again on two free throws by Frank Kendrick with 2:05 remaining. But Nix countered with a 25-foot shot seven seconds later.

Braves make Aaron highest paid player

ATLANTA (UPI)—Hank Aaron, baseball's first $200,000-a-year superstar, says the Atlanta Braves probably would have traded him back in the early years if he had asked for the kind of money some of the young players are demanding now.

"I would never have had the nerve to ask for that much money, not even after I won the batting title."

But Hank Aaron has the nerve now. The Braves' 30-year-old right fielder first baseman signed a three-year contract Tuesday for a reported $600,000 and thereby became the highest paid player in baseball history.

"When I came to the majors my financial goal was to save up enough money to buy myself a new Pontiac," Aaron recalled. "It wasn't easy."

Although he had just turned 30, Aaron was married and had a baby daughter when he joined the Braves in 1954. He wasn't even sure he'd be sticking with the major league team when he signed his contract that year and even though he hit 362 the previous season at Jacksonville, he only got about $7,500.

But Hank Aaron has come a long way since that March, 1954, day when Bobby Thomson broke a leg and Aaron took over right field.

Braves President Bill Bartholomay didn't even wince Tuesday when he reported he had come to terms with Aaron and added, "as befitting a superstar of Aaron's stature, it was the largest contract the Braves have ever signed."

But later Bartholomay made it clear he feels there's a big difference between paying a super salary to a Hank Aaron and "meeting the demands of young players who haven't really proven themselves yet."

"Even in this age of accelerating sports salaries, only a player like Aaron is really entitled to this sort of increase," said Bartholomay. "In my opinion, Hank Aaron is the greatest player in the game today. His record speaks for itself."

Bartholomay feels some of the younger players are being "misguided" by agents "out for a fast buck."

"There are three kinds of agents—the ones in it just for the money; the ones who are trying to help the players but don't really know as much as they should; and a few who are really helping, who are doing a good job."

"I approve of the latter," said Bartholomay. "With the kind of money many athletes make these days, they need the guidance of a really good agent can give them."

This is expected to be the last player contract Hank Aaron will sign.

N.C. Staters nip Tar Heels

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI)—North Carolina State upset 25-ranked North Carolina 85-80 Tuesday night, with a dazzling performance by 7-foot-4 sophomore Tommy Burleson and the last minute heroics of senior Paul Coder.

North Carolina, trailing most of the game, held a four-point lead with 41 seconds on the clock only to see Coder hit two field goals and a free throw to give State the win, the 30th career victory for Norm Sloan as a college coach.

State opened with a tight zone, defended over by Burleson, which kept North Carolina at bay for more than half the game as the talented sophomore blocked shots and dominated the rebounds.

Gillman joins staff at Dallas

DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas Cowboys Tuesday hired Sid Gillman, former head coach and executive vice president of the San Diego Chargers, to help head a new department that will scout other teams around the league.

Sid's vast experience in the NFL, totally and in the American Football Conference specifically can be of great value," Cowboys officials said.

"I'm delighted," Gillman said. "It's an honor to me to have the opportunity to work with the Dallas Cowboys, the most successful team in football, and as far as I'm concerned, the epitome of our profession."

The Cowboys said Gillman will work with Ernie Allen in a research and development department.

Essentially, their function will be to study NFL personnel, something we feel can be most important to us, not only in trades, but in other areas. And, they will be assisting the staff in program information.

"We feel they can add a lot in researching new ideas and trends taking place in the NFL," said Cowboys president Tex Schramm.

The College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles will meet the Idaho State All-star in a special exhibition at 8 p.m. Wednesday in an effort to keep com- petitively honed for the junior college 18th regional basketball tournament opening here Monday night.

Shue blasts refs, predicts NBA fine

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Insisting, "I'm not going to sit back and let the referees destroy my life or my team," Baltimore Bullets coach Gene Shue blasted the NBA refs Tuesday night and predicted he'll receive a $2,000 fine.

When asked what he'll do if he's suspended for his remarks, Shue said, "I'll resign."

Shue exploded after Baltimore lost a 118-117 overtime decision to Seattle. It was the 22nd game the Bullets have lost by 10 points or less and Shue says that the officials are responsible for some of the close losses. He also insists the Bullets aren't getting the same calls that teams with better records are getting.

"I'll probably get fined $2,000 for this but in my lifetime, I've never seen anything like it. It's been unbelievable. I don't believe in making rash statements but tonight the situation has come to a head. In the division we're in, the refs don't give us the same calls as teams like Los Angeles and Milwaukee. I don't want our team penalized because of our record."

Cougars take suit to Olympia

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI)—The Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association Tuesday asked the state Supreme Court to remove 7-foot Jim McDaniels from the roster of the Seattle Supersonics of the National Basketball Association.

The Cougars, in a court petition, said King County Superior Court Judge William Wilkins of Seattle had no authority to rule McDaniels should play for the Supersonics.

Chief Justice Orris Hamilton set March 9 for oral arguments in the case.

Kenneth P. Short, Seattle, an attorney for the Cougars, contended difficulties between McDaniels and the Cougars were matters to be settled in North Carolina and not in Washington.

Short said Wilkins "is wholly without jurisdiction on the subject matter of the action."

Orioles have new potential superstar waiting in wings

MIAMI (UPI)—Frank Lane is the pious piper of baseball. Wherever he goes, he draws a crowd.

Ballplayers flock around him because most of them are his friends. They know he's here, there, everywhere and they want to get the latest dope from him. Other front office execs are drawn to him because he's always ready to make a deal. The men in the media love him because there is no better news source.

One of them here in the Baltimore Orioles training camp walked up to Milwaukee's energetic, wavy-haired director of baseball operations the other day and asked him a perfectly simple question.

"What," he asked the Brewer's veteran baseball man, "do you think of Bobby Grich?"

"He's worth a million dollars," replied Frank Lane, burrowing his candor at both ends as usual.

The newsmen wanted to make sure he had gotten it right.

"Did you say a million?" he asked.

"One M-I-L-L-I-O-N," Lane repeated S-L-O-W-LY.

The newspaperman had himself a small scoop and he wanted to handle it extra carefully, particularly since Bobby Grich, Baltimore's new 23-year-old golden-boy hadn't signed yet.

He hurried over to Earl Weaver, the Orioles manager, and told him what Lane had said about Grich.

Weaver grunted and when he saw Lane later he grumbled: "What did you tell him that for? You know, Grich isn't signed yet."

Lane came right back. "What do you want me to say, he's a humpty-dumpty?"

There is no way anybody can say Bobby Grich is a humpty dumpty.

"He can play shortstop, second, third and the outfield and was deemed ready two years ago. But there was no room for him with the Orioles."

So they sent him to Rochester where all he did was hit .383 with nine home runs.

"There was no room for him with the Orioles again last year but they hid to tell him something."

"Go back to Rochester once more," they told him, "only this time hit some home runs."

Bobby Grich wasn't overjoyed but he went. He hit some more home runs — 32, in fact. That was tops in the International League. So was his .336 batting average and 299 total bases.

He was the Minor League Player of the Year and although the Orioles have had two others, Mike Epstein and Roger Freed, the blond 6-2, 180-pound Grich is valued more than twice as much as the Eagles who haven't had a game in eight days.

Meanwhile, the Eagles and North Idaho Junior College still are waiting for challengers to come out of the Oregon Community College Athletic Conference. CSI will meet the champion at 9 p.m. Monday and North Idaho will play the Oregon runner-up at 7 p.m.

Oregon has completed its conference play but has added a new twist, a top four-team elimination tournament, to decide which two teams will come to regional. These games will be played Thursday and Friday night at Roseburg, Ore. Participating will be Central Oregon, Lin-Benton, Umpqua and Southwestern.

The entrants will be known late Thursday night with the Friday night game merely played to establish the position in brackets.

Coach Jerry Hale, CSI coach and regional director, says Oregon conference is improving right along and the entrants sent here this year will be much more respectable than those in previous seasons.

Central Oregon has two men who average 25 and 23 points during the season and Lin-Benton had two with identical 27.6 averages at season's end, plus another at 16.7.

Central Oregon carried a 92.8 team offense average while Lin-Benton had 87.2, Umpqua 85.5 and Southwestern 86.7. Defensively, they went, in order, 87.7; 77.7, 81.8 and 76.8.

The winner of the regional here will advance immediately into the national tournament without the inter-regional of last year. The inter-regional is a once in three-years situation caused when the number of junior college regions was increased to 18.

Tickets for the event may be purchased before hand at the CSI offices.

Liquori to miss Ryun duel

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Marty Liquori, rated the No. 1 miler in the world in 1971, Tuesday night pulled out of his Saturday mile match at the Champions Meet with Jim Ryun.

Meet director Al-Fragkon said the 22-year-old Villanova runner told him by telephone that an ailing left foot had forced him to withdraw from his scheduled 10th meeting with Ryun, the world mile record holder. Ryun holds a 6-3 edge but Liquori won the last three times the pair stepped on the track.

"Marty told me he had seen his doctor and that he wouldn't be able to work out at all and faced a six-week layoff," Franken said.

Within the next few weeks all Buttreys meat departments will be using new Meat Identity Labels. You'll find them informative and easy to use. They'll show you:

1. the name of the retail cut (such as blade pot roast, club steak, or pork chops).
2. the type of meat (such as beef, pork, veal, or lamb).
3. the name of the primary cut (this is the large portion of the carcass, also known as the wholesale cut) from which specific retail cuts are taken.
4. the weight of the meat. You are not paying for the wrap or the container. Buttreys meat retail stores are inspected and policed by the Bureau of Weights and Measures.

TF woman named '71 KOPS queen

TWIN FALLS — Sande Moeller was crowned 1971 KOPS Queen of TOPS Idaho Chapter No. 96 Monday evening by Bev Burns, outgoing 1970 queen.

Mrs. Moeller, with a weight loss of 71 1/2 pounds, reached her goal in February, 1971. She completed a three-month KOP period before the last weigh-in in December. She was presented her crown, a dozen long-stemmed American Beauty roses, a charm and a monetary gift.

She was affiliated in the club's rose and pink queen's robe.

Pat Curry, Kimberly, occupied a place of honor beside the queen as runner-up. She lost 64 1/2 pounds to reach the goal her doctor set for her. She was presented a rose corsage and a monetary gift.

Gold and white curtains decorated with shamrocks and leprechauns and a TOPSEY figure formed the background scene for the annual event held at the YM-YWCA.

Also, honored during the evening were division winners including Maurina Coughay, division No. 8; Vicki Tilton, division No. 3; with Grace Beau Flier, runner-up and Mary Lou Lampe, alternate; teen division No. 8; Patti Beau Flier, Stark Club queen; Jody Batten, division No. 14; and a pregnant Denise Sherman was also nominated as an alternate to the queen.

Each girl was presented a corsage and charm as gifts of encouragement and recognition from the club. Marge Kramer, past leader and 1968 TOPS queen, and Bev Burns, 1970 KOPS Queen, gave inspirational talks. Ollmas Armstrong, area captain, served as mistress of ceremonies.

Cheryl Armstrong played background music. Joyce Harding, Flier, song director for the club, sang two original compositions to honor the new queen.

Regular meetings are held at 7:30 p.m. at the YM-YWCA building. Further information may be obtained by calling 733-6089, 432-5460 or 328-4863.

Named queen

SANDE MOELLER was crowned 1971 KOPS queen of TOPS Idaho Chapter No. 96 Monday evening. Mrs. Moeller lost 71 1/2 pounds in a 10-month period and has maintained her "ideal" weight for one year.

Extra dash

ECHO is seabornd this season in a tidal wave of nautical fashion. Stars, anchors, buoys and ropes are only a few of the insignias saucily splashed on an ocean of silk twill and chiffon. Add extra dash to your nautical ensemble by accessorizing with "Yachting Scarfs." Wrap your head in a starlit sky of silk chiffon, or stuff your pockets full of anchors in colors as crisp and clean as an admiral's salute. And for that free and easy feeling, let those Echo-longs blow in the wind.

Golden Age installs

TWIN FALLS — The Golden Age Club has installed new officers.

President is John Henderson; vice-president, Tels Griffith; secretary, Louis Harrell, and treasurer, Emma Stone.

Officers were installed by Louise Bush, president of the Soroptimist Club. Other Soroptimists present were Dorothy Davis and Lora Doss.

March 30 will be a potluck dinner and old time dance. Persons 60 years old and over are invited, with "dress as you like."

Anyone who has taken pictures of the club should bring them, according to Lena Wahl, publicity chairman.

TWIN FALLS — A potluck luncheon will be held Friday at noon in the Valley Christian Church in honor of senior citizens of the Twin Falls area.

Each person attending is asked to bring a covered dish and table service.

Rev. Don Roberts will present a program illustrated by slides depicting activities of a non-denominational senior citizens fellowship which meets in his church in Marysville, Calif.

All interested persons are invited to attend. If transportation is needed it can be obtained through the Senior Citizens Agency, 733-9351.

Ms. title replaces Miss, Mrs.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The women's rights movement wants to erase the Miss or Mrs. title in front of every woman's name, replacing it with Ms.

Regardless of how this strikes you, be advised that "Ms." is a title for a woman but without denoting her marital status—working itself into the language.

A theater marquee in Manhattan advertises its movie "M. Erotica." In one major city, a formerly "Miss" contest recently was changed to "Ms."

Reporters covering meetings of the National Organization of Women (NOW) are instructed in many cases—Remember, I'm M.—pronounced "MIX."

Many of these women including NOW President Wilma Scott Heide, were known as Mrs. before the movement brought Ms. into the picture.

The maestro was right about the safety play. South wanted to make three no-trumps and was sure of it. However, the maestro might have assessed the full $10.

Suppose East held three clubs to the king. South would get three club tricks but would not be able to get back to dummy to run the rest of the suit. Or if West held the three clubs to the king, South would get three club tricks but would not be able to get back to dummy to run the rest of the suit.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I know it's impossible, but I would give a year's pay to meet "Practically Unquashed," because I am just as hungry for affection as she is.

There is only one difference. My wife loves me (I think) and she is an attractive, intelligent woman who is fun to be with. I just can't get her into the bedroom.

If I want to retire early, she stays up watching television until I'm asleep. If I come home late from a business appointment, she's asleep. Or pretends to be.

I am no slouch, either. I'm 6 foot 11 and weigh 180. I'm fit as a fiddle, have a headful of premature silver hair, play golf and tennis in summer and handball in winter.

In our 25 years of marriage, my wife and I have never gone off for a weekend together. She still calls it "non-sense" to run off and leave the children, who are now 23 and 24, and married with families of their own.

I have never cheated on her in my life. My parental influence and religious training still sticks. But how long can I curb these growing frustrations? I am constantly propositioned by widows and neighbors. Even some of my friends' wives drop little hints. It's one big battle, and it's not getting any easier. Sign me

ON THE VERGE

DEAR ABBY: I hope this letter reaches you in time because you sound like a man with one foot in somebody else's bed. You say your wife is intelligent. If she is, let her down and read this letter to her! And if your life at home doesn't improve after that, she can't say she wasn't warned.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you will reconsider your opinion of the lady who always did needlework when visiting with friends.

You said, "She is making a statement. The company isn't sufficiently fascinating to warrant my total attention."

Not at all! I work full time and have a large house and family, and the only time I can do needlework is a hobby, which I love, while riding in the car, at meetings, and during evenings with friends.

I have finished dozens of worthwhile projects this way, and so have many of my friends. We certainly do not mean to be insulting.

Needlework and knitting can become almost automatic, and need not take away from one's attention to the conversation going on. And if the conversation is boring or trivial, we are at least accomplishing something! Sign me

KNIT WIT

DEAR WIT: I see your point (no pun intended), and hereby reconsider.

DEAR ABBY: Put me down as one who does needlework in company. It's doctor's orders. And it has done wonders for me. In fact, I think I owe my "sanity" to the needlework I have done in the last two years.

Most of my friends know why I am almost never without my little tote bag of needlework. And the others can go jump in the lake.

By the way, I am a male, and anyone who wants to make something of that will be dead wrong! Sign me

"BUSYFINGERS"

DEAR ABBY: You were unfair to those of us who do needlework while conversing with others.

Some folks smoke because it "relaxes" them. Well, knitting relaxes me! And my knitting doesn't bother anyone. But their smoking sure bothers me. Apologize!

MRS. K. K.

DEAR MISS: I already apologized for that one.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69766, Los Angeles, Cal. 90066. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Miss Brown, Flinn exchange promise

TWIN FALLS — Karen Brown became the bride of Neil Flinn in an evening candlelight service Feb. 12 at the First Baptist Church.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Brown Jr., Twin Falls, and the bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Doris Flinn, Enid, Okla.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Leslie C. Brown, of Valley Christian Church. For the ceremony, the wedding party was flanked by baskets of blue and white chrysanthemums, with two gold floor candelabra with white tapers accented by blue bows and greenery.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore an ivory-satin floor-length gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and shirred bodice. The gown was enhanced with long fitted sleeves fastened at the wrists with a row of satin-covered buttons. The gown, originally worn by her mother, had lace inserts on both the train and the bodice.

Maid of honor was Verna Burpup, Idaho, cousin of the bride. Kathy Layman, Pocatello, and Jan Wilkins and Diane Sawaya, both Twin Falls, were bridesmaids.

Mrs. Byrle Carr was soloist and Mrs. Fran Rider was organist.

A reception for 200 guests was held in the church fellowship hall after the ceremony.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and a white nylon skirt. The four-tiered cake was iced in white, decorated with blue lilies, topped with wedding bells and accented with blue flowers and greenery.

It was flanked by two smaller matching heart-shaped cakes bearing the names of the bride and bridegroom. Blue candles in crystal candelabra enhanced with flowers and bows completed the arrangement.

Mrs. Michael P. Sawaya, long time friend of the bride's family, served the bride's cake. Mrs. Dale Woodland and Mrs. Howard Edwards, aunts of the bride, served coffee and punch. Lennie Barth provided piano selections.

Mrs. Robert Martinez, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Zan Powers cared for the gifts. Joyce McGlothin registered guests.

Guests attended from Oklahoma, Montana, Boise, Pocatello, Idaho Falls, Inkom and Magic Valley towns.

The bride was honored at miscellaneous showers by fellow employees of the Datacenter, the women of Valley Christian Church and by Mrs. Michael Sawaya and her daughter, Diane.

After a honeymoon trip to Boise, the couple resides at 377 Shoup Ave., Twin Falls.

The bride is employed at Datacenter and the bridegroom at P and E Concrete.

'Something for nothing' creates much suspicion

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — People get suspicious when you try to give them something for nothing.

Laurence August, a young public relations man, found that out when he tried to promote a consumer protection plan for installment buyers, particularly home buyers.

August hit upon a fortuitous name for his plan — ESP — for Economic Security Program. Basically, ESP provides for payments up to six months if a buyer loses his job through no fault of his own.

He canvassed a dozen or more insurance companies two years ago and they smirked at him, August said.

"It's never been done before, they would say," he recalled. "There are no actuarial tables, what are the odds?"

As for this January, he found backing and has a going concern with ESP functioning in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Phoenix, New Orleans, and out of Chicago, headquarters of E.S.P. Fidelity Corp.

Under ESP, the seller pays a premium to ESP and issues a warranty to the buyer — guaranteeing payments under the stated conditions.

ESP will protect a buyer's credit rating, August points out, and his payments will continue if he loses his job due to economic factors; technological developments which result in automation, relocation of his company, redesigning of production methods or a lockout due to a labor strike.

August said he also has tied in the military. If a man is retired prematurely through no fault of his own, he may be protected under ESP.

August found early in his efforts to promote ESP what seemed like a major obstacle. It is against the law to give away insurance. In most states, this is because a large company with a subsidiary selling insurance might give the insurance away as a lure to buyers of merchandise, giving them an unfair advantage over competitors.

"I didn't want the individual consumer to have to buy ESP," August said. "I wanted the cost to be so low, the seller could easily afford to give it away as part of the deal. If you try to sell something like this to the individual consumer, a process of negative selection is set up. Only the people right on the verge of losing their jobs probably would buy it."

Ethel Martin gets club's blue pencil

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Ethel Martin was the blue pencil winner for the best speech at the Monday meeting of the Magic Toastmistress Club.

Her speech was titled "A Key for The Music." Other speakers were Mrs. Clara Bednor and Mrs. Vera Young.

The program was outlined around the theme, "Let's Be Patriotic."

Inspiration and pledge were given by Mrs. Nettie Magel who also conducted the lexicology lesson. Welcome was extended to Mrs. Ruby Box, a guest. Table topics were conducted by Mrs. Mary Sharp, who gave each member a word pertaining to the meaning of patriotism and had them speak from one to two minutes on this subject.

Mrs. Clara Bednor was the winner of the traveling trophy for the best topic.

Toastmistress was Mrs. Aileen Lindemood. The evaluators and timer were Mrs. Dot Miller, Aida Strong and Nettie Magel. Mrs. Strong also served as general evaluator for the meeting.

TOPS unit names 'Queen of Year'

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Maurice Fuller was honored as "Queen of the Year" of TOPS Chapter 198.

Mrs. Fuller was attired with a tulle and gold-lined purple satin cape. She received a long-stemmed red rose, a gold charm bracelet and a queen charm.

Chapter leader, Mrs. Jan Wells, presided at the presentation ceremony, assisted by Mrs. Marvin Taylor, Donna Ustick and Mrs. Velda Taylor.

Certificates were presented to Mrs. Ellis Fuller for runner-up in division five; Mrs. Eldred Taylor for loss winner in division four; and Mrs. Marvin Taylor for runner-up in division four.

The contest with the Twin-Thins Club will end March 9. A salad luncheon will be served by the losing club at the YWCA March 16.

Mrs. Eldred Taylor was queen of the week and also queen of the month for the most pounds lost. Mrs. Jon Wells took home the pig for the most pounds gained.

Honey, syrup, peanut butter and sweet sauces are the forbidden foods for next week. The March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ellis Fuller.

Motor pool contracts questioned

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate State Affairs Committee asked the attorney general's office Tuesday for an opinion as to the authority under which the state operated when issuing a contract for motor pool operations.

Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, said he questioned whether the state could enter into a contract with private industry for services which could be performed by the state.

Under question was a bill to give the state purchasing agent authority to create a state motor pool. The state is already operating with a motor pool first created by executive order by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and run by Inland Leasing and Management Co., which won the contract for the project.

Kidwell said it appeared the contract gave a "virtual guarantee of making a profit" to the corporation.

"It's certainly the kind of situation most businessmen would say very much."

Questions over the contract raised by members included: Whether the Texas firm which originally bid on the project was authorized to do business in Idaho. Robert W. Miller, who took the contract, and his attorney, Dale Clemens, Boise, said it was the intent when the firm won the contract to establish an Idaho company.

"The apparent lack of a performance bond, although Miller said the company has insurance."

—And whether the contract could be voided by either party to the state by not giving the corporation sufficient volume and the firm by declining to continue.

Wiring tip
LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — The tremendous growth in the use of small appliances during the last 10 years also has increased the demand on the home wiring system.

Extension-home specialist Mary Dale McGregor at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln said it is vital to see that enough outlets are present to allow use of appliances without the need for extension cords — and so called cheaters that permit the electric skillet, blender and coffee percolator to be operated on the same outlet.

Officer leaves army

FT. MCPHERSON — Gen. (UPI) — Lt. Col. Anthony B. Herbert, who had accused two superiors of condoning atrocities in Vietnam, was mustered out of the Army Tuesday in brief ceremonies.

The veteran soldier, a hero in the Korean war but the center of controversy after the accusations he made in Vietnam, signed the necessary papers for his retirement at the 3rd Army headquarters.

But Herbert refused comment at present on his case other than to say "It's been a very interesting and educational career."

Herb will technically be in the Army until midnight Tuesday night. Afterwards he planned to leave for a brief vacation with his family in Florida before returning here Monday for a planned news conference.

The 41-year-old soldier, who is retiring after 20 years in the service, was promoted to Brig. Gen. John Barnes and Col. J. Ross Franklin, his commanders in Vietnam, of flushing up atrocities. The charges were dismissed after investigation by the Inspector General's office.

But the bitterness stirred up by the allegations led Herbert to charge he was being harassed into retirement.

He claimed he had been subjected to petty indignities by other officers that his mail had been censored and that he was prevented from talking to news media.

The Army denied it.

Herbert, the most decorated soldier in the Korean war, has indicated he may return to the University of Georgia, where he taught ROTC, to further his education.

He has also received an offer of a post on the staff of Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Taiwan
says pact
null, void

TAIPEI (UPI) — The National Assembly issued a statement Tuesday declaring "null and void any compromise or understanding" President Nixon may have reached with Peking regarding "Yeltsin's visit to China during his weekend visit."

"We wish to declare to the world," the statement said, "the government and people of the Republic of China (Taiwan) consider null and void any compromise or understanding which our ally, the United States, may have reached with the Chinese Communists."

In a report to the assembly, one of the three branches of the Nationalist Parliament, Vice President C.K. Yen said the government would not accept any agreement involving its rights and interests made between Nixon and Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and not outlined in their joint communiqué issued in Shanghai Sunday at the close of Nixon's visit.

British
rap U.S.
news media

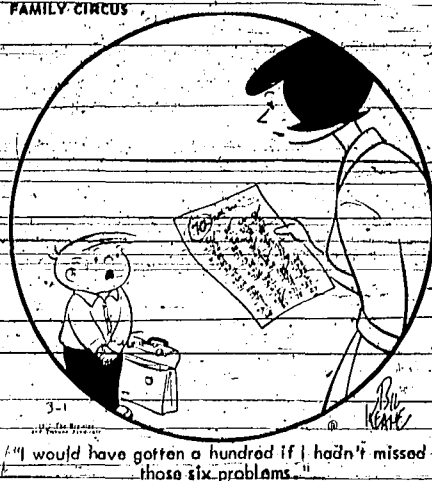

LONDON (UPI) — A Conservative party member of Parliament said Tuesday he has complained to U.S. Ambassador Walter H. Annenberg about reporting on Northern Ireland in American news media.

Robert Adley said a letter he wrote to Annenberg cited references by the U.S. Armed Forces Network (AFN) to Londonderry as "the place where British troops shot 13 Irish civilians."

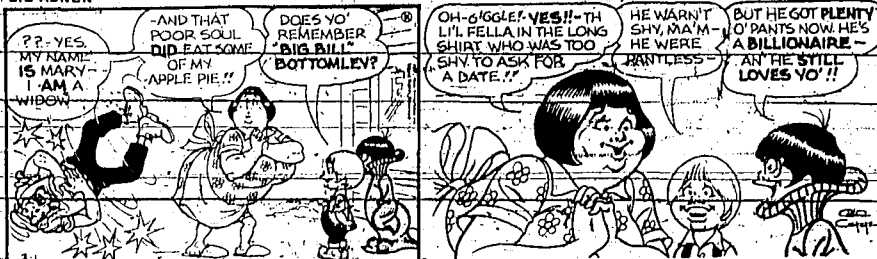

"I do not recall the BBC (British Broadcasting Corp.) referring to My Lai as 'the place where American soldiers killed Vietnamese civilians' until a court had established the facts," the member from Bristol said.

Adley said the reporting on Londonderry by many of America's media has been "speculative and misleading." Annenberg formerly owned both the Philadelphia Inquirer and the Philadelphia Daily News.

Roger Phones Injured Girl

Q. "So here we were, watching the Super Bowl, when this girl friend of mine got so excited at the second touchdown in the third quarter that she jumped out of her chair, threw her arms over her head and dislocated her shoulder. Complications cropped up. Now she's back in the hospital, due for surgery on it. You know what she needs? A telephone call from Dallas, Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach."

A. Mr. Staubach says he'll be highly pleased to talk to the young lady. He has her name and number. She can expect his phone call before you read this. KNOW WHY all our horse races run counter-clockwise, but why do all the merry-go-rounds and roller dorbies go the other way? THAT office craftman most apt to change jobs this year is the data processor, statistics indicate.

IN GREAT BRITAIN, you can join the Army for five days, then quit if you don't like it. What do you think of that, soldier? DOGS

Dogs brought up in England aren't as mean as dogs raised elsewhere. Go on, ask me how I found that out. Through a United Nations survey. It shows fewer British madmen are bitten by dogs than postmen in any other nation, that's how.

ALTHOUGH it's a thing we weren't taught in school, some historians claim the majority of passengers aboard the Mayflower on their way to the New World killed time mostly just by sitting around singing dirty songs. Could this be true, dear me?

BEFORE this wise physician in Washington, Iowa, went on vacation recently, he tucked the following sign in his office door: "On Vacation - Stop smoking!!! Eat sensibly!!! Take two aspirin!!! Check back April 1, 1972." Dr. M. L. McCready AMOROUS The boy babies outnumber the girl babies just about everywhere. But not in the harem of the Middle East. There, the girl babies far outnumber the boy babies. Most peculiar, researchers thought. Why? Their scientific studies indicate it was because those harem fathers were busier, much busier in an amorous manner than average. I'll go into this in greater detail. But not here. Maybe tonight down at the club.

MADAM, would you care to pay a little attention to Joan Crawford? As follows: "Never let your husband see you exercise. No woman rolling around on the floor looks really adorable after she's past her third birthday."

NUPTIAL NOTE: A few weeks ago, Miss Canape married Mr. Sardine in Kahului, Hawaii. Excellent, excellent.

HOW ABOUT SOME BASKETBALL, AMOR? LEANER WANTS TO LAY IT ON SOME CROSSTOWN CATS, AND NEEDS A LITTLE EXTRA BRISTLE UNDER THE BOARD.

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate State Affairs Committee voted today to introduce a new Idaho Labor Relations Act to regulate agricultural employees through a strengthened Agricultural Labor Relations board.

Sen. William Crookham, R-Caldwell, told the committee "notwithstanding the implication of the governor's veto yesterday, I still think we need some sort of bill."

He said in drafting the measure "great care was taken to stay away from anything unconstitutional, but we tried to balance the farmers' rights with the farm laborers' rights."

He said the bill contained a 10-day notice of strike provision similar to that used in Hawaii which had been upheld by the courts.

Farm Batt blasts Andrus veto

WILDER (UPI) — Phil Batt, President of the Food Producers of Idaho, Tuesday labeled Gov. Cecil Andrus' veto of a bill to extend the state farm labor law as "irresponsible and regrettable."

Batt, a former legislator, said he would veto the measure and said there was still time during this session to correct the wrongs in the measure.

Batt, a former legislator, said Andrus' action killed two years of pioneering efforts in the field of agricultural labor.

"The most regrettable part is that the farm worker is once again completely without protection. The 95 per cent of the farm labor force which merely wants to be left alone may once again be subjected to the billings threatening them with physical and monetary harm if they don't do what a vocal minority wants."

Batt said, "I made an earnest plea to the governor at the start of the session to recommend reasonable changes in this bill so that we could avoid veto."

He said he was assured recently as last week by the governor's chief aide that there would be no veto of the measure.

Income outlook said favorable

POCATELLO (UPI) — W. F. "Bill" Whitton, Pocatello, of the Idaho Farm Bureau Federation says farm income prospects appear to be more favorable this year than in 1971.

He said farm incomes were moving up at the end of 1971 and the present outlook for most commodity prices in the year ahead suggests that the upswing may continue this year.

Farm prices have shown improvement in recent months with prices at mid-December 1971 per cent higher than the previous year, as costs were up five per cent.

Farm prices were 71 per cent of parity; he said, up one point from the previous month and up five points from a year ago.
